ALBERNI CITIES SET PRECEDENT

Join in Creation of High School Area

By an order of the Council of Public Instruction to be issued this week, Alberni and Port Alberni will be created a high school area, authorized to jointly operate a new modern high school to be built to serve the two cities. This will be the first agreement of the sort between two British Columbia cities, although similar arrangements are in operation successfully at Chilliwack, with the city and district contributing, and at Salmon Arm, where the city and district share high school costs. The Department of Education has agreed to contribute to the Alberni District High School one-half of a maximum of $25,000 to be expended upon the new building. The cost of building and equipping the District High School is expected to be nearly $50,000, with about $17,000 provided by the new school area. The agreed proportion of this cost, to be borne by the respective cities is: Port Alberni sixty-five per cent, Alberni thirty-five per cent. By-laws approving debenture issues to cover the cost will be submitted to the ratepayers as early as possible, and are expected to receive strong support, as the existing high school facilities are overcrowded and the school boards have acted together in negotiating with the Government, to close to the pressure of public opinion.

is fruitful of results. For years we have been conducting a campaign in Ontario and more recently in Quebec and we plan to further extend our work in Quebec. The superior qualities of British Columbia woods is becoming more and more appreciated. "In Ottawa I took up a number of matters with various departments and also discussed the matter of the return of the Peace River Block and Railway Belt and during the recess, an agreement will be made between the Dominion of Canada and British Columbia for the transfer to the Province of the Railway Belt and Peace River Block. This agreement will be ratified by the Dominion Parliament and the Provincial Legislature at their next respective sessions.

"I found the Ministers at Ottawa all hard workers and earnestly endeavoring to administer from the broad aspect of the national welfare.

"Parliament was kept pretty busy as it was generally understood that an effort would be made to close the House by May 24."

SAFE RAIDERS VIST ALBERNI

Burglars Unsuccessfully Cut
Dial From Well Filled Safe

(Special to The Times)

Alberni, May 14—The first burglary experienced by Alberni for many years took place early on Friday morning, when expert operators unsuccessfully attempted to open the safe of C. E. Bishop & Son, grocers. The burglars chiselled the dial off the safe but were apparently disturbed and fled after looting the cash drawer of small change left overnight. The raid was discovered when the manager of the branch opened the store at 4 o'clock. Entrance had been obtained from the rear, and the safe indicated that considerable time had been devoted to the effort to get at the contents. A large sum was in the safe, due to payment of accounts by clients following the fortnightly payroll at the large mills in the district. It is believed that the operators were well acquainted with local conditions. Chief of Police M. M. Stephens found traces of finger prints. He summoned a finger-print expert from the Provincial Police Headquarters at Victoria, who reported that the safe operators were experienced workers who wore gloves.

DIMPLED BEAUTY IS ELECTED 1928 "MISS VICTORIA"

beauty from over the footlights of the stage of the Dominion Theatre. She weighs 120 pounds, and is five feet three inches in height.

"Miss Victoria" will be crowned and crowned at a special show at the Dominion Theatre Wednesday night.

WILL GO ON TOUR

After that she will start on her tour of Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Moose Jaw, Regina and Brandon, under the Famous Players. In each of these cities she will be pitted against the picked most beautiful girls of the country, to decide who shall be "Miss Canada" and represent this country in the International Pageant of Puget Sound at Galveston.

On all her stage showings on this tour, "Miss Victoria" will pose in the special one-piece silk bathing suit that is being presented to her by J. M. Robertson, manager of the Dominion Theatre. She will also appear in the special Paris gown, the hats, shoes and stockings, which are being presented to her by Victoria merchants.

UP-ISLAND QUEEN COMING

"Miss Nanaimo," who has been chosen as the most beautiful Up-island girl, will come to Victoria to appear here with "Miss Victoria" Wednesday night, and then together start on their long prize beauty tour.

"Father was much surprised, but said he was awfully glad when I told him that I had won," Irene said.

"Father" is H. Pilkington, known as the "Mayor of Shelbourne Street," and is the general store merchant of that district.

"How do I like it?" Irene went on. "Oh, I'm quite excited about it. I think I'm going to like it fine. I know that I will like all the dresses, hats, stockings and other prizes, and I think the trip will be exciting."

NO SWEETHEARTS

Irene was born in Winnipeg. When she was four years of age she moved with the family to the Coast, living first in Vancouver and then in Duncan. For the last four years she has been attending the public school at Duncan. She came to Victoria at the first of the year.

"I used to have a sweetheart in Duncan, when I was going to school there, but he doesn't even write to me now and I haven't got a sweetheart in Victoria at all," Irene went on.

"I always thought I would like to go on the stage. This experience will show me something of what it is like."

If Irene should win the title of "Miss Canada," she will be given a try-out at Hollywood by the Paramount studios. Last year Miss Madeline Woodman won the beauty championship of Canada and represented this country at Galveston, winning there fifth place in the world.

Miss Pilkington blushed as she said that she had not even thought of getting married. But she likes her home and thinks cooking is "real fun," although she like to go to a dance once in a while. She was quite a basketball fan at school.

Vilma Banks is her one special enthusiast as far as actresses go, and she has a real "crush" on Ronald Colman. "I had up idea of going in for this contest until some of the girls began asking me why I didn't take a chance at it," Irene said. "At first I thought I was too small, and not steady enough, as some people think beauty queens must be. But finally I put my name in and now the prize has come my way."

Father and mother, the two brothers and the one sister, were all down to see Irene when she made her debut in the beauty pageants last Monday night. She is the second child of the family. The father accompanied her to the bathing suit rehearsals before she started on her public appearance. He and the mother were down again Saturday night when Irene polled 659 votes, the biggest vote of the week.

BOUQUETS

Flower bouquets were showered on the beauties at the final showings in the contest on the Dominion stage Saturday night.

Saturday's vote was:

No. 1—Emily Burke 73
No. 4—Majorie Moody 64
No. 5—Florence Moody 65
No. 6—Madge McGowan 182
No. 7—Irene Pilkington 659

The final totals for the whole week as completed to-day are:

No. 1—Emily Burke 332
No. 4—Majorie Moody 400
No. 5—Florence Moody 429
No. 6—Madge McGowan 740
No. 7—Irene Pilkington 2,012

PRIZES LISTED

Among the prizes to be awarded her Wednesday night for winning the title of "Miss Victoria" are an evening gown, the choice of anything in the South African Plume Shop, without any reservation, and a pair of latest Fifth Avenue shoes from James Maynard and hosiery from the Gresham Hosiery Company.

Miss McGowan will receive a pair of shoes from Maynard's, and a ladies' suit and white gold wrist watch from W. H. Wilkerson.

Miss Marjorie Moody will receive a genuine leather handbag from the Leather Shop.

Miss Emily Burke will receive a ladies' beauty set from Merryfield and Dack.

Miss Florence Moody will receive a box of silk hosiery from the Gresham Hosiery Company.

toward this grave situation created by Japan."

The action followed closely on the heels of the Nanking protest to the League of Nations, claiming Japan had violated China's integrity and independence.

OVERTURES REJECTED

The Nationalists, through the Kuomintang News Agency, also announced rejection of Chang Tso-lin's peace overtures. Chang, in a telegram to all civil and military leaders, requested them to "save the country from destruction."

The Kuomintang News Agency's announcement said:

"Chang Tso-lin can never be taken into the Kuomintang, but his subordinates, who have proved their sincerity toward the Kuomintang, might be accorded appropriate treatment in order to expedite the summoning of a national convention."

TSINAN CASUALTIES

The Chinese at Tsinan estimated 2,000 of their countrymen had been killed or wounded, including 200 civilians, in the Chinese-Japanese clashes, and the Japanese announced forty-one Japanese soldiers and sixteen civilians had been killed and 189 soldiers wounded.

Since the Japanese have disavowed any intention of establishing a military government, the policing of Tsinan has fallen to the Chamber of Commerce and other bodies.

JAPANESE PLANS

It was understood in Tsinan that the Japanese intended to adopt three measures pending the settlement of the Tsinan affair.

First—Occupation and direct operation of the Tsingtao-Tsinan Railway.

Second—Occupation of the foreign settlement at Tsinan.

Third—Establishment of neutral zone ten miles wide along the railway and around Tsinan.

DEATH CALLS

COL. J. G. HOLMES

Niagara Peninsula, in the years 1866 and 1870, receiving the medal with two clasps.

After serving two years as captain with the St. Catharines Garrison Artillery, Col. Holmes entered the permanent force in 1871 as a lieutenant in A Battery, Canadian School of Gunnery, later Royal Canadian Artillery, formed when Imperial forces were withdrawn from Canadian points other than Halifax and Esquimaux.

Twelve years of service brought promotion to the rank of Colonel and the responsibility of organizing the Pacific Coast defences at Esquimaux, where the necessary accommodations for artillery had yet to be constructed.

For ten years Col. Holmes directed the military affairs of this district, among his active service duties being command of the military expedition sent against the Skeena Indians in 1888.

In 1893 he was transferred again to the East, where he commanded at Winnipeg and at London, Ont., where he was D.O.C. from 1898 until 1901, when he returned to Victoria and resumed charge of Military District XI.

WON DOMINION PRIZE

Col. Holmes attracted wide attention among artillerymen in 1878, when he won the first prize offered by the Dominion Artillery Association for an essay on "The Organization, Equipment and Localization of Artillery for the Dominion of Canada."

He retired from active service in 1909.

Col. Holmes married Elizabeth Kew of Beamsville, Ont., in 1870, who died two years ago. He is survived by two sons, Col. W. J. H. Holmes, D.S.O., of Victoria, and H. A. Holmes of the Canadian Bank of Commerce head office at Toronto; three daughters, Mrs. Cedric Hay of Moss Street, Mrs. E. A. C. Studd of Vancouver and Mrs. B. Garland-Ashley of Tonopah, Nevada. There are six grand-children.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, Rev. Mr. A. de L. Nunn officiating.

MAY ESTABLISH AIR SERVICE TO VICTORIA

FINE AIR HARBOR HERE

"You have a wonderfully protected harbor for flying purposes here with a landing place for seaplanes right in the heart of the city," said Mr. Gorst in discussing his mission at the Empress Hotel to-day.

"Air travel will witness tremendous development on the Pacific Coast within the next few years, and with the seaplane as the logical means of serial transport the fine harbors of the United States and British Columbia, offering as they do such ideal landings bases, will be developed on a much greater scale with air transport combining with shipping traffic," added Mr. Gorst.

"I am convinced that air services via the water route will be the most popular with the public as it is much the safer method of travel.

"Our flying boats, for instance, skim over the water at a height of from two to ten feet and could easily alight on the surface of the water. If a forced landing were necessary."

"I consider that is the best flying level for commercial flying."

Mr. Gorst's company secured the contract for the Seattle-Los Angeles air mail service two years ago, but later transferred the controlling interest to the Boeing Company of Seattle.

His company operates a number of flying boats out of Seattle.

NEW MACHINE

The Zephyr is a new aircraft, built by the Boeing company at Seattle, and delivered to Mr. Gorst two weeks ago. It has closed cabin accommodation for four passengers and pilot and is propelled by a Wright Whirlwind engine of 225 horsepower.

Moored at the Causeway landing stage here this morning the flying boat attracted much attention.

Pilot Percy Barnes, who has a large acquaintance here, spent the greater part of the forenoon in greeting old friends.

SCOUTED FOR GAME PRESERVES

Mr. Gorst stated that he made his first trip in the Zephyr to Canadian waters a week ago, carrying Paul Graham of Seattle, who flew over the Gulf of Georgia to survey an island which he planned to acquire as a game preserve.

RIVERS FLOOD LARGE REGION

Ottawa, May 14.—With the Ottawa River swelled to the highest point in nineteen years, the levels of it and the Gatineau were unchanged to-day. The feeling here is that unless there are some unexpected developments in the north country, the peak has been reached.

Along the Ottawa between this city and Pembroke there was little change in the situation to-day. Thousands of cars came to see the floods Sunday, viewing the Summer cottages standing out in the newly formed lakes.

BRIDGE DESTROYED

In the vicinity of Calumet Island the Barry River Bridge was carried away, and many farm houses are flooded. Dozens of cottages along Lake Deschenes are marooned, but they are almost entirely Summer homes and had not yet been occupied this season. The railways skirting the lake are high enough to be out of danger so far. At Gatineau Point thirty-five families have had to move out of their homes.

LAKE TEMISKAMING REGION

Cobalt, Ont., May 14.—Flood conditions at Halleybury and New Liskeard still are bad. During the week-end there was a gradual rise in the waters of Lake Temiskaming. At New Liskeard a number of houses are marooned. The town pumping station at Halleybury has been abandoned and the town will obtain its water supply for the time being from three springs near the reservoir.

ROAD TRAFFIC STOPPED

Sault Ste. Marie, May 14.—The high water in the Mississauga River receded very little over the week-end. The river at Iron Bridge still is about eighteen feet above normal and the trunk road between that point and Dean Lake and Blind River remains blocked to traffic. Old-timers in the section say the water is higher than any previous time in forty years.

The streams near Sault Ste. Marie are falling gradually and no further trouble is expected in this section.

Mackenzie Liberals Name W. J. Heath

Powell River, May 14.—W. J. Heath of Ocean Falls was nominated here Saturday night as Liberal candidate in the Mackenzie constituency in the forthcoming provincial general election. Four names went to the ballot, the others being Dr. D. J. Miller, George McFall and John McLeod, all carrying Powell River backing.

When Mr. Heath carried the ballot the other nominees joined in a resolution to give him the unanimous backing of the convention.

Hon. A. M. Manson, K.C., Attorney-General, was present and delivered an address. The convention was largely attended and great enthusiasm over the prospect of winning the seat from Michael Manson, the Conservative who now holds the seat, was shown.

DEPUTY CHIEF WITNESS AT VANCOUVER POLICE INQUIRY

In the course of his evidence regarding houses alleged run by Joe Celona, the deputy chief declared an arrest had been made.

INTERFERENCE NOT WANTED

"Did you hear the chief complain about some of these cases?" asked G. G. McGee, K.C., counsel for Police Commissioner T. W. Fletcher. "The chief explained that he wished the Mayor would not interfere in these cases," the witness replied.

"The chief wanted to close them up?"

"Did you have a list of disorderly houses which were supposed to be allowed to run?" asked counsel.

"I did not," said the Deputy Chief. "Questioned about gambling 'joints' and disorderly houses, the Deputy Chief said he knew of Shue Moy, though he did not know him personally."

HELP MENTIONED

"Was any mention made about financial assistance to the Mayor?" asked Mr. McGee.

"I believe I did hear the chief say Shue Moy helped the Mayor—not when he was Mayor, but before," the witness replied.

The deputy chief stated that once, when Inspector John Jackson and Detective George McLaughlin of the morality squad were away, he had closed about twenty gambling dens himself. There was no difficulty in closing them if "a man was kept there all the time," he declared.

Since 1922, when Inspector Jackson had been given full charge of morality work, he had nothing much to do with that work, he said.

COUNCIL'S LETTER READ

At the resumption of the hearing of evidence Commissioner Lennie called on Lieut.-Colonel Hulme, secretary of the commission, to read the letter from the city council informing him of Mr. Lennie's complete confidence, the rescinding of his former action and its concurrence in his interim report, which, the letter said, had been forwarded to the police commission.

A. H. MacNeill, K.C., counsel to the commission, then called Deputy Chief of Police Daniel Leatherdale as the first witness.

Questioned by Mr. MacNeill, the deputy chief said he had been employed with the police force for thirty-one years, that he had started as a patrolman and had worked up through every branch except the detective department.

CONVERSATION WITH DETECTIVE

Mr. MacNeill then read certain parts of the evidence given previously by Detective Rod McLeod as recorded in the official transcript. The evidence related to a conversation between Mr. McLeod and the deputy chief in May, 1927, when the detective had approached him with a view to closing certain gambling houses.

"Can you remember the incident?" asked Mr. MacNeill.

"Yes, very well," replied Mr. Leatherdale. "McLeod came to my office excited and angry. He told me of the place he had just visited—a gambling joint—and wanted to take an axe and go back and smash it up. He wanted me to go with him, I told him he must know that would not do, that we had to have a warrant and go about it with evidence. I told him I was not at that kind of work myself and that he should go and tell the chief."

MAYOR MENTIONED

"Did you have any further conversation with him?" asked Mr. MacNeill.

"Yes," replied Mr. Leatherdale. "I told him he knew the mayor did not want us to shut those places up. I can't remember that we said much more."

NUMEROUS REPORTS

"Had any other constables made previous complaints about these gambling houses?" asked Mr. MacNeill.

"Yes, I will have to explain that. About a year before the chief had ordered all constables to report any disorderly houses, gambling houses or blind pigs found in their beats. They did so and, in some cases, reported repeatedly. There were a great bunch of such reports. Inspector Jackson and Sergeant McLaughlin said they were aware of those houses and would get them all in time."

"They were trying to get a line on all the women," continued Deputy Chief Leatherdale. "What they wanted was information on new places."

"I told Inspector Craig to get the sergeants to explain the situation to the chief, and they did. After that there were further reports, mostly on lottery joints outside of Chinatown. They were run by Chinamen and patronized by whites and Chinese. There were about twenty-five or thirty on Powell, Cordova and Carrall Streets."

"Well, what happened?" asked Mr. MacNeill.

"I replied Deputy Chief Leatherdale. 'I saw him the next morning—or I believe it was that night. I told him about it. He told me he had reported to Jackson, and he told me right then that the Mayor did not want us to raid those places.'"

"What position did you think the police commission occupied?" asked Mr. MacNeill. "Don't you think you should have reported to the police commission in such a case?"

"Not over the chief's head," replied the witness.

"Well, in the case of a superior officer refusing to enforce the law," said Mr. MacNeill.

"Well, I understood Inspector Jackson did report verbally to the chairman of the police commission," interjected Mr. Leatherdale.

"I want to make it clear," continued the witness, "that I never told McLeod that two rich Chinamen operated these places. I think it was very unfair of McLeod to say that in his evidence."

CELONA AFFAIR

"Do you remember one of the officers having some difficulty at Joe Celona's place?" asked counsel.

"Yes, I do," replied the witness. "Who is Celona?"

"I never spoke to him in my life," said Mr. Leatherdale, "but I understand he is a person of very low character, a keeper of disorderly houses. He was run out of one and went to another."

"Was it was Celona's difficulty?" asked Mr. MacNeill.

"Well, the chief told me," said Mr. Leatherdale, "that Celona had complained to the mayor about a constable standing continuously at his door at 210 Keefer Street. I asked Thompson, who was the constable concerned, for the facts, and told him what the chief had said to me. He asked me if I wanted him to stay away from the place. I told him not under any consideration—that if the facts were as he said to use his own discretion as to how long to stay at the place."

"There would be no difficulty in closing these gambling joints would there?" queried counsel.

CLOSED TWENTY

"Well, you have to keep at it—keep at it all right. In the absence of Inspector Jackson and when Sergeant McLaughlin was away on his vacation I closed about twenty myself," said the Deputy Chief.

"In 1922," continued Mr. Leatherdale, "Jackson was given full charge of all morality work and narcotic cases. 'From that time I did not have much to do with that work. I looked after the uniformed men, set their hours, arranged their beats and handled their reports. All of the reports from the plainclothes men went direct to the chief. They did not come to me.'"

ROUTINE CHANGES

"I would also like to make it plain," said Deputy Chief Leatherdale, "that Constable Thompson was not taken off the beat as the result of Celona's complaint. He was changed in the regular course of four week periods. Every man is changed from one beat to another and from certain beats to other hours every four weeks and might not get back to that beat for another three years," said Deputy Chief Leatherdale.

KNOWN BY REPUTATION

Mr. MacNeill remarked to the witness that other men, said to be in the same class, had been mentioned. He asked the acting chief if he knew Felix Augustine.

The witness replied that he knew him only by reputation and that he was supposed to be associated with a disorderly house.

"And Pete Ledore?" asked Mr. MacNeill.

"The same, as far as I know," replied the deputy chief.

"Frank Augustine and French Pete?" asked Mr. MacNeill.

The deputy chief replied that these two men were also of the same class, to the best of his knowledge.

He was asked about a man named August, but replied he had not heard of him.

KEPT LIST

Mr. McGee then asked the witness if he had a list of the places he had raided when he was in charge in October, 1926.

The deputy chief read a list, as follows: 262 Columbia, 20 Powell, 17 Troncoe, 214 and 210 Carrall, 280 Columbia, 134 Powell, 6 Water, 158, 130 and 228 Pender East, 61 Cordova West, 248 Union, 828 Main, 56 Powell. There were one or two places on Seymour Street, said the witness, but they were not running at the time.

Mr. McGee then read the following numbers, asking the witness if they were running at the time: 172 Powell, 208 Main, 54 Cordova East and West, 77 and 66 Powell.

The deputy replied that 172 Powell was the place of which Detective McLeod had complained to him.

RAIDS HAD EFFECT

"There were other places running," he added, "but when they heard I was out they quit. I did not get them all."

"How could these places operate as they were when you raided them unless with the consent of the police?" asked Mr. McGee.

J. W. de B. Parris, K.C., counsel for Mayor Louis D. Taylor, here objected to the question, contending Mr. McGee was cross-examining his own witness. If later evidence should be called to refute statements, he said, Mr. McGee and Mr. MacNeill might cross-examine, but otherwise should be confined to examination in chief.

QUESTION DISALLOWED

Commissioner Lennie asked the official stenographer to read the question, and after his repetition declared it disallowed.

"Well," asked Mr. McGee, "how could these places operate to the extent they were when you raided them if the police had been making an effort to close them?"

"One would have to keep after them all the time," replied Acting Chief Leatherdale. "They are like smouldering fires."

"But you closed them," remarked Mr. McGee.

The deputy chief replied that he had, but sometimes in his raids he had found only the keeper and one man in the places.

Mr. Parris rose again and remarked that if counsel were confined to objecting to individual questions, "instead of a flat ruling being made, it would place them in an 'individual' position and would tend to occupy much time."

ALL TESTIMONY INVITED

Mr. Lennie pointed out that the question really devolved into what weight he would place on the various evidence. At the beginning of the sessions, he said, it had been laid down that Mr. McGee's position was to instruct Mr. MacNeill. It appeared, however, that some witnesses under those circumstances would not give some evidence they otherwise might tell. Being an inquiry, and not a lawsuit, the commissioner said, he did not wish to shut out any testimony that might be of value to him in making his report.

Returning to the witness, Mr. McGee asked:

"How long were those places closed?"

"I turned the department over to McLaughlin when he returned," replied the deputy chief, "and he kept on raiding them. They were not very bad then, in 1926."

"What happened in 1927?" asked Mr. McGee.

"They were running too openly, I thought," replied the witness.

METHOD OF REPORTING

The deputy, in reply to further questions, declared that when reports of these places were received by him from policemen, he would take them to the chief. He had been told by the chief, he said, that the mayor did not want the places closed.

Mr. McGee asked Acting Chief Leatherdale about gambling conditions in Chinatown during the past twenty-three years.

The witness replied there had not been much change in the last few years—not even in the last thirty years.

CARRIED ON OPENLY

Mr. McGee said evidence given at the inquiry showed that, whereas some years ago gambling was carried on behind iron doors, now it was carried on quite openly.

"Well," replied the deputy chief, "the magistrate held that if a man was caught behind barred doors—where you had to break in with an axe—that was sufficient evidence of his guilt. But some lawyers tipped them off and they began to run with open doors. Then you had to prove a rakeoff."

There was laughter in the court and Commissioner Lennie smiled.

LOST CASE

"I saw a raid Inspector Craig made one place," the witness continued, "but he could not prove a rakeoff and lost the case."

Mr. McGee said he would demand a record of that case.

"What was the talk around the station about that case?" asked Mr. McGee.

"That is not a fair question," interposed the commissioner.

"Do you know Shue Moy?" asked Mr. McGee.

"Yes, he is a gambler," said the witness.

"How many places does he run?"

"Quite a few."

"Where did he get the right to run these places?"

"Not from me."

NOT MENTIONED

The acting chief denied he had mentioned "rich Chinamen" to the chief. He did not know any rich Chinamen. He remembered Shue Moy was mentioned by himself and the chief and it was mentioned that the mayor knew about it.

"Was any mention made about financial assistance to the mayor?" asked Mr. McGee.

"I believe I did hear the chief say that he (Shue Moy) helped the mayor—not when he was mayor but before," said the witness.

The witness said he could not swear that Sergeant McLeod was wrong in his report of the conversation regarding financial assistance to the mayor.

The deputy chief said he knew Shue Moy owned quite a number of places, agreeing when Mr. McGee mentioned 172 Carrall Street, 206 Main and 54 Cordova.

"That was next to 60 Cordova Street, which you said you raided. Why did not you raid 54?" asked Mr. McGee.

REMEMBERS PLACE

"I did. I think I remember the place. It was a big place upstairs," said the acting chief.

"What about other gambling? Is it not true that the bookmakers carry on as openly as the Chinamen?"

"No, they are a lot harder to get. They have a little place—a small room. It's not everyone who can get them."

CHINESE COLONY IN VANCOUVER IS EXCITED NOW

Vancouver, May 14.—When Chow Mew, Chinese, arrested Saturday on charges of intimidating witnesses called to testify at the Vancouver police inquiry, appeared in police court this forenoon a remand of one week was given pending the probable arrest of others with whom he is alleged to have conspired to defeat the ends and aims of the investigation.

Local Chinatown is in a ferment. With the arrest Saturday of Chow Mew, the opening of what may prove a serious Chinese feud was made.

When Chow was arrested a second warrant, against an unnamed Chinese, was in the hands of the police for execution.

As far as could be gleaned from Chow on his release on $2,000 bail on Saturday, his arrest was claimed to be due to an attempt on the part of certain factions to stir up strife in the Chinese colony similar to that which culminated some years ago in the killing of David Lew. The accused man proclaimed his innocence of any attempt to intimidate anyone.

PROTESTS SENATE'S ACTION

SIR HENRY DRAYTON HAS FILED Ontario's official protest against the action of the Canadian Senate in amending the liquor importation bill so that private individuals still would be able to import in quantities of half a gallon or less. He says that importation of any kind and any amount would seriously embarrass the administration and effectiveness of the new "control" law. In similar terms the Attorney-General of Manitoba has lodged that province's protest with the Dominion Government.

It was only to be expected that the provinces would waste no time in making known their objection to the Senate's amendment. Not the least important item on the agenda of the Dominion-provincial conference at Ottawa last fall was this question of the private importation of liquor into those provinces where the government control system is in operation. British Columbia and Manitoba formally requested that it should be discussed and a common plan of action agreed upon. Mr. Manson pointed out that private importation and government control were a contradiction in terms, and that there could not possibly be satisfactory control as long as the private individual was free to bring in as much liquor as he liked. It is a matter of record, of course, that all the other provincial representatives agreed with the Attorney-General of this province and endorsed his request to the Dominion Government.

As already pointed out, this matter is not a new one as far as British Columbia is concerned. Mr. Manson asked for the legislation, which now has been amended by the Senate, as far back as the Spring of 1922, at that time being supported by Quebec as the only other province with a control system in operation. The House of Commons passed a measure which would have given the governments of the two provinces the sole right to import liquor. The Senate threw it out. Twice afterwards the measure was re-introduced and passed. On each occasion the Upper Chamber rejected it. No doubt the Senate lacked the courage to throw it out a fourth time; but it has done it as much harm as it could by allowing the bootlegger a hole through which to creep.

It should not be necessary to remark that this is not a political question at all. It is a matter in which good government is involved. After the Dominion-provincial conference in particular, the Dominion Government had an unequivocal mandate from the seven "control" provinces. Mr. Baxter, the Conservative Premier of New Brunswick, being especially emphatic in his endorsement of the stand taken by this province and Manitoba. In fact, the request for this legislation was unanimous. It is high time the people of the country inquired whether their elected representatives are to be allowed to govern or whether the gentlemen of the Red Chamber are to be permitted to thwart popular will just when they feel like it.

ITALY'S NEW ELECTORAL LAW

PEOPLE WHO LIVE IN DEMOCRATIC countries will wonder why Premier Mussolini should be bothered with a Chamber of Deputies and a Senate now that his new electoral law is about to be written into the statute books. This makes the country a one-party constituency and Parliament all one political color. In other words, such semblance of opposition to Fascist rule as may have remained in the shape of a candidate or candidates with other views has been removed. Nobody but a tried and trusted Fascist will be permitted to run for Parliament. What could be more comfortable politically than that?

In the opinion of Premier Mussolini, of course, universal suffrage is a "conventional fiction." We wonder what the average Canadian—exclusive of that small element with the colonial outlook—would say if he were told that any manifestation of opposition to the government of the day would be disposed of by "suppression" on the Fascist principle. This has been the position of the average Italian in Italy since Mussolini seized power more than five years ago. One thing is certain: Italy is not so bankrupt of public men with minds of their own and administrative capacities that her people will be content indefinitely to be told by Mussolini how they are to think and act.

BRITISH IMMIGRANTS

AT LAST THURSDAY AFTERNOON'S sitting of the parliamentary committee on immigration Dr. J. A. Clarke, assistant deputy minister of health, said that Canada's new medical inspection system of immigrants was adopted to check the flow of feeble-minded and potentially insane immigrants to the Dominion. Instances had been discovered, Dr. Clarke declared, where Old Country doctors had "shaded" medical reports of their patients who desired to migrate to Canada. Lack of understanding of Canadian conditions on the part of roster doctors, moreover, had been responsible for undesirable being medically approved for passage to this country. The new plan of inspection by Canadian doctors at British ports, incidentally, was working satisfactorily.

We are told by the morning paper that "Canada will receive a greater volume of British immigrants when she again illustrates to the British people that British settlers are more welcome than any others." Let us look at the facts. One of the officials of the colonization department of the Canadian National Railways already has stated that his organization is spending four times more money in its efforts to bring people to the Dominion from Great Britain than it is anywhere else. The morning paper also should know that there are in Great Britain, maintained by Canadian and British money, several very large centres at which young men are being trained for life in Canada. The bald truth is that only a comparatively small number of people in the Old Country want to emigrate anywhere.

AN ERRING BISHOP

THE BISHOP OF GUILDFORD HAS been telling the people of his Surrey diocese that "in British Columbia, where the British portion of the population is increasing, there is danger of the people growing up absolutely pagan." He says "no religion is taught in the schools there and no means of teaching religion are supplied by the church at home."

Canon Jocelyn Perkins, sacrist and minor canon of Westminster Abbey, and general secretary of the British Columbia and Yukon Church Aid Society since 1910, styles the amazing statement of his brother divine "an undeserved reproach both to the Church of England in the Old Country and the Church of England in Canada." He puts it this way:

The church has made tremendous efforts in British Columbia and is full of vitality. In 1869 when Dr. Hilla went there, he found six clergymen at work. To-day there are five dioceses, 160 clergy men and a theological college for the training of men for the clergy.

For the bishop of Guildford to say that no means for teaching religion are supplied by the church at home is a libel on the different societies working here for British Columbia.

Will the bishop of Guildford help us to obtain money and additional clergy for the work in British Columbia?

Canada suffers much from misrepresentation of this sort abroad, based upon hopeless ignorance. The Surrey Bishop apparently still thinks we are tribal aborigines who eat missionaries for breakfast. He always will think that; it might be bad form to think anything else. On the other hand, Canon Perkins obviously knows we are not painted savages who scalp and torture our enemies, and there is still good ground for the hope that a decent proportion of British Columbians will not be ultimately consigned to the bottomless pit. In his rejoinder to the Bishop of Guildford he might have added that even if no religion is taught in the schools of this province, the people here are at least as Christian as the people of his own country—and they are much healthier and happier. As a matter of fact, it is harder to be a real pagan in British Columbia than it is in London.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A DOG'S LIFE

(From The Los Angeles Times)

An actress wants to start a rural retreat for homeless dogs. This is one of those things that an actress would start. She could probably never keep one husband and, therefore, considers herself qualified to take care of ninety-two dogs. Anyhow, there may be a little notoriety in it.

SNOBBERY AND POVERTY

(From The Sherbrooke Tribune)

(One of the chief causes of poverty is snobbery and the desire to be in the swim.) Unfortunately too many who give themselves up to the caprices of the day and to these extravagances do not see that they are on the road to poverty and to an old age fertile with anxieties of all sorts. When they remember this, it is generally too late and their privations have already commenced with all their host of cares.

CANADIAN RADIO CONTROL

(From The Christian Science Monitor)

As recently announced in the Dominion parliament by the responsible minister, Canada is considering the feasibility of establishing radio-casting under national ownership, control and operation as it is in Great Britain. So far, Canadian radio-casting has been left to private enterprise. The government has confined itself to regulating the number of stations by annual license.

It is being impressed upon the federal administration, however, that radio-casting in Canada may go the way of motion picture production, unless it is taken over by the state. Private stations in Canada have no such source of revenue as the larger radio-casting stations in the United States to pay for entertainment up to the desired standard of excellence. Unless radio listeners in Canada are given at least as satisfactory service by Canadian radio-casting stations, they will naturally tune in to United States stations. They would still be just as free to listen to entertainment from stations to the south, but it is believed that Canadian radio-casting could be much improved under state enterprise.

There would seem to be no insuperable obstacle to the proposed policy. Canadian stations have been limited in number with considerable foresight by the Dominion administration. The demand for private stations is increasing, however. One of the latest, and the largest in Canada, is owned by liquor interests. After observing the confusion arising from private radio-casting enterprise in the United States, Canada has no desire to become involved in a similar problem; nor can the people of Canada look with equanimity on the possibility of radio-casting gradually passing into the hands of private monopoly. The comparative success of the British Broadcasting Commission, under the national policy of public ownership, has much to commend it to Canada.

THE VICTORIA ASPECT

To the Editor:—I note in your article entitled "Saanchik and the High School" that you plead for an amicable arrangement between the authorities. In this pious hope everyone will concur. At present there has been no disturbance of the peace. Saanchik has secured High School privileges from Victoria at from twenty-five to thirty per cent less than cost price, and naturally desires to continue such a profitable arrangement.

I am not quite certain that Victoria's taxpayers are satisfied with the arrangements. As one sworn to care for the interests of Victoria, I called attention to the unequal status of our educational methods. It appeared to me—viewing it from the Victoria angle—that Victoria citizens should profit the greatest from its own property, equipment and management, and that any other municipality should receive neither special privilege nor lesser cost. You apparently think otherwise, and have the courage to say so.

You did not so argue or plead when the water question was an issue between the municipalities. Saanchik and Oak Bay never sought nor expected a price to be made at less than cost, and indeed each agreed to pay cost price plus five per cent profit. The Legislature in its wisdom ordered this method.

The Legislature apparently suggests that High School pupils may be accepted by one municipality from another at cost price without profit, but never from first to last in the 176 clauses of the Public School Act it is suggested that less than cost price should be the basis of negotiations between school boards.

I observe that you endorse Trustee Beckwith's extraordinary suggestion that to charge cost price to Saanchik pupils would involve the withdrawal of the Saanchik students. Pray will you tell your readers by what process of deduction is this conclusion arrived at? To withdraw Saanchik must build, equip and provide for about 800 pupils, looking to the natural increase in the next few years. Will the building spring up?

JOTS FROM GEOGRAPHY

SNAKE CHARMERS of India rival the jugglers of the country in popular displays, and seem to have reduced the reptiles to complete tameness and friendliness, charming them with music and supposed mystic powers. They add to their income by going to private houses to catch snakes, which come in handy for future shows.

KIRK'S Wellington Coal

"Does Last Longer"

PHONE 139

In a night? Will the Saanchik School Board be able to induce the Saanchik electorate next January to supply sufficient money to purchase land and build its own High School, and even if the money is provided, could such a school be built, staffed and arranged earlier than September, 1929? And if it were possible so to do, would Saanchik taxpayers consent to pay more for their High School requirements, with a certainty of lesser efficiency at the beginning of its operations, than it can secure for the tried and tested educational facilities and prestige of Victoria High School?

You suggest in your article that if the Saanchik pupils were withdrawn, this would not obviate the erection of a new High School in the near future. Trustee Beckwith claimed in his statement that there were about 240 Saanchik students. If the whole of these were withdrawn, do you not think that their places might be occupied by Victoria students, and that the natural increase will be taken care of for several years? You fear there will be a loss of $9,000 if Victoria claims its just dues. I fear the loss of a similar amount if Victoria does not claim its just dues.

With profound respect for your editorial opinion, I am fairly certain that the Saanchik pupils were withdrawn, and that this can be done more efficiently and economically through Victoria than if it "cuts the painter" and starts its own High School, is more than probable that the Saanchik School Board of School Trustees may prefer to continue its arrangements with Victoria, even though there may be some additions made to the present budget. High School finance spells sometimes "tight strings."

KIWANIANS IN SESSION HERE

Clubs of Northwest District Represented at Conference on Saturday

Tribute Paid to Late Victoria Members; District Governor Is Heard

Subjects dealing with Kiwanis activities in various phases were presented at a conference of No. 1 Division of the Pacific Northwest District held in the Empress Hotel, Saturday afternoon.

Delegates were present from all clubs in the division, the following being in attendance: Ed. C. Walsh and L. J. Martin of North Vancouver; Dr. G. S. Purves, William I. Reid and Frank Paulding of New Westminster; District Governor Frederick Syverson of Spokane; Assistant-Governor Robert W. Welt and John W. Brisky of Mount Vernon; Ed. Swartz of Anacortes; Arthur Leighton, Nanaimo; William D. Pratt of Bellingham; William S. Day, R. George McCue, J. Roy Sanderson and J. L. Northey of Vancouver; J. R. Mathews, H. S. Berg, G. A. Wolverson, A. J. Croser, H. H. Beetle and Orville Harris of Port Angeles; C. Elwood Watkins, Harold Diggon, Haskin Beach, W. S. Norrington, Carleton W. Stocker and A. E. Humphries of Victoria; Roy Corbett of Seattle and Warren Butler of Tacoma.

Reports and addresses delivered were by the following: William D. Pratt of Bellingham, on "Objective Number Three of Kiwanis International"; Walter Butler, Tacoma, on "International Goodwill"; J. Roy Sanderson and J. L. Northey of Vancouver, on "The Public Affairs Committee"; William S. Day, Vancouver, on "Underprivileged Child Committee"; William Reid, New Westminster, on "District Convention in Aberdeen Next August"; John Brisky, Mount Vernon, on "District Classification Committee"; and Roy Corbett, Seattle, on "District Music Committee."

A tribute to the memory of the late Dr. Howard Miller, past president of the Victoria club, and the late Albert L. Walker, chairman of the membership committee, was paid, following a resolution of sympathy for the Victoria club on the loss of two so highly-esteemed members.

Saturday evening, following the conference, the visiting delegates were entertained at a banquet in the Empress Hotel when District Governor Frederick Syverson of Spokane gave an address.

"Kiwanis International has as fine a set of objectives and principles as any organization possesses, or could hope to possess and it is the duty of every Kiwanis Club to make these ideals a living, vitalizing force in its community," said Governor Syverson.

KIWANIS OBJECTS

He outlined the objects of Kiwanis—to give primacy to the human and spiritual values of life; encouragement of the daily living of the golden rule; the promotion, adoption and application of higher social, business and professional standards; development by precept and example of more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship; provision of means of forming enduring friendships through Kiwanis clubs and co-operation in creating and maintaining sound public opinion and high idealism, making possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism and goodwill.

Governor Syverson spoke of the growth and work of Kiwanis in the Northwest, stating there were now seventy-four clubs in the district. The coming convention of Kiwanis International was mentioned by the speaker. Already 2,500 hotel reservations had been made in Seattle, he pointed out, and urged a strong delegation from all clubs of the district.

GROWTH OF KIWANIS

Lieut.-Governor R. V. Welt of Mount Vernon, introducing Governor Syverson, traced the gradual growth of Kiwanis since its inception in 1905—thirteen years ago. It had now 100,000 members

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, MAY 14, 1903

The entire sitting of the Royal Labor Commission was occupied by the examination of Arthur Bulley, chairman of the Victoria branch of the B.C.S.S. He was questioned by each of the commissioners and counsel regarding the strike.

The Victoria and vicinity—Moderate to fresh winds, westerly at first, partly cloudy and cool.

The total receipts at the four concerts of the musical festival last week were $2,300; $600 being taken on the first evening, $1,000 the second evening, $150 the third evening, and $230 at the matinee.

Large audiences continue to patronize the Edison theatre, the home of high class vaudeville and moving pictures.

The County Court sittings commenced this morning, Mr. Justice Walkem presiding. Several cases are on the list for trial.

Last night's turnout of the members of the Victoria Athletic Association was the largest for some time past. It was decided that the club should amalgamate with the Y.M.C.A.

A master of the R.M.S. Aorangi, on his last outward voyage, reported the existence of a shoal near Penryn Island.

To-morrow evening a meeting of the intermediate baseball league will be held and a schedule will be drawn up.

At last night's meeting of the Victoria School Board Chairman Drury, in the course of discussion on some improvements, said he thought that something should be done towards the general beautifying of school grounds.

Motorist Killed

Cranbrook, May 14.—Ed. Patterson of Cranbrook was instantly killed late Friday night when his automobile turned over. A daughter, Sheila, was shaken up; a son, Leitch, sustained fractures of several ribs. Dorothy Spence had her nose broken and Cullen McBurney had one foot crushed in the accident. Mr. Patterson has been in Cranbrook for twenty-five years, associated with a mercantile firm.

A musical programme was furnished during the banquet by the Imperial Male Quartette, composed of William Draper, first tenor; Frank L. Tupman, second tenor; J. W. Buckler, baritone, and Alfred W. Palmer, bass, all members of the Arion Club and winners of the quartette competition at the Victoria Musical Festival. The quartette rendered three offerings: "Close Harmony," "Green Watermelon" and "Sweet Sixteen."

Community singing, led by Kiwanian Cecil Heaton, and dancing, followed the banquet.

VALDEZ ISLAND LOGGER KILLED

Russell Goodrich Instantly Killed By Falling Snag at Open Bay

Cumberland, May 13.—Russell Goodrich, aged 23, logger, was instantly killed at Open Bay, Valdez, Island, May 8, when he was struck by a falling snag. Goodrich was unmarried and came to British Columbia from the prairies. He had only been out of hospital six weeks after a bad accident, when he was killed.

A Sure Cure
Patient—Doctor, I can't tell how I feel. I am anyhow, it took me suddenly. I don't know how—I am not very well. I can't tell you why.
Doctor—Take the prescription for I don't know what to the chemist; take it. I don't know how many times a day and you will be cured—I don't know when.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why Salvo and Cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile Sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. MacFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver Drug Co., and drug-gists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee. (Adv.)

Dean Addresses Business Women

There was a very good attendance of the members of the business women's branches of Columbia W.A. at the meeting held in the guild room at the church, under the title of "The New Renaissance," at the close of which a pleasant social hour was spent and refreshments were served by a committee of Diocesan officers who acted as hostesses.

The Dean gave a very striking address on the world call to the church, under the title of "The New Renaissance," at the close of which a pleasant social hour was spent and refreshments were served by a committee of Diocesan officers who acted as hostesses.

Farewell Party Held at Duncan

Duncan, May 14.—Complimentary to Mrs. H. L. Storr, who is leaving Duncan shortly for a trip to England, the Ladies' Club gave a most delightful farewell party on Thursday evening.

The evening was given over to music, competitions and dancing. Mrs. Ryall and Don Campbell being the fortunate winners in the competitions arranged. Songs by Mrs. Storr, Mrs. Swan, Mrs. Jennings and Max Bucknell, and piano solos by Mrs. Ellingham were much enjoyed. Miss Monk acted as accompanist.

Some Call This Being "Well Bred"

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Sometimes we lean over backwards trying to be correct. One afternoon a doctor of wide reputation started out for his customary walk in the short hour before dinner—the only time of the entire day he could call his own.

His mind was occupied, not with the crocuses and budding trees around him, but with the sick and dying people whom he was treating.

As he strode along through the park two girls on horseback halted him. "Will you please direct us to North Avenue?" begged one sweetly.

The doctor stopped and lifted his hat. "Which part of North Avenue do you want to go to?" he asked politely. "There are two or three routes from here."

"We don't know exactly," said the girls, "but we have the number."

Then followed a light discussion, the doctor polite but anxious to get away, the girls not in such a rush. Suddenly the doctor realized that a limousine had stopped nearby and he recognized the woman alighting as one of the city's social leaders. She passed him with hurried frigidness and went up to the limousine. Without any attempt at lowering her voice she reprimanded her daughters quite audibly for "stopping to talk to philanderers."

The doctor, now alive to the situation, hastened toward the limousine where the father sat. He was extremely annoyed but wished to explain in order to let the daughters out of a hole. Father looked daggers, and leaning forward gave an order to the chauffeur just as the doctor reached the car. Good breeding? Some people make a god of it without an ounce of it in their veins.

BLIND, BUT HE SEES THE MOVIES—Harold Kean of Birmingham, known to thousands of radio fans through his songs and mandolin solos from W.J.R. is one of Detroit's best movie fans. Kean, blind since he was seven years old, "sees" all the moving pictures through the fingertips of his wife. Occasionally Mrs. Kean whispers to him, the rest he understands through her touch. Here the couple is shown at a Detroit theatre.

SCHUBERT CLUB BEAT ALL CHOIRS

Victoria Ladies' Choir, Under Frederick King, Best at Festival

Percy J. Edmonds Gold Medalist Champion in Male Class

Vancouver, B.C., May 14.—To the applause of four thousand appreciative music lovers, the sixth annual British Columbia Musical Festival, which has engaged the talent of the Province in Vancouver during the past week, closed Saturday night with a colorful concert in the Auditorium. The programme, which included individual and corporate singing and instrumental entertainment, was interspersed with competitive numbers. Awards were:

B. C. Electric Cup (highest marks of all adult choirs): Schubert Club, Victoria.

K. of P. Cup: Schubert Club. Gold medalist's championship vocal solo competition for women: Mrs. Leonard Daves, Vancouver.

The winner of this event was awarded the Jackson-Hanby Cup donated by the First Presbyterian Church choir, Victoria. The trophy was held last year by Mrs. A. Dowell, Victoria.

Day school choirs competing for the Lieutenant-Governor's Shield: Lord Nelson School, Vancouver; Miss M. Allen, conducting.

Class 11—Day schools, Grade 1B, dramatized nursery rhymes: Macdonald School, Vancouver, eighty-six marks.

Class 12—Day schools, Grade 1A, singing games: Simon Fraser School, Vancouver, eighty-six marks.

Class 14—Original compositions, professional: Edith Stuart, sixty-eight marks.

Class 15—Original compositions, amateur: 1. Kate Richardson, seventy-six marks; 2. Mrs. E. N. Matby, seventy-five marks; 3. Kate Richardson, seventy-two marks.

Class 16—Original compositions, piano or organ, amateur: Jean R. Coulthard, eighty marks.

Class 18—Original compositions, amateur or part-song: Mme. Clare Sumner, eighty-one marks.

Class 19—Original compositions, orchestra: Mme. Edith Stuart, eighty marks.

Class 20—Vocal solo, Gold Medalist Championship, male: Percy J. Edmonds, 92 (Victoria).

Class 21—Orchestral, open: Scottish Society, conductor Thomas Shankie, 94.

Class 1—Choral Societies, competing for Vancouver Men's Musical Club Shield: West Vancouver Choral Society, conductor Prof. J. P. Morgan, 190.

UNFORTUNATE INCIDENT
 Percy J. Edmonds who, according to Dr. Baird, possessed a fine bass voice that refrained from becoming sentimental, was awarded one year's possession of the Clarke-Hamilton Cup.

An unfortunate occurrence during the men's championship competition detracted somewhat from one of the singer's performances. Before the competitor had reached the climax of his song, the audience applauded vigorously, a thing that caused untold embarrassment to the artist.

In concluding his adjudication remarks, Dr. Baird referred to the incident in the following manner: "Ladies and gentlemen, in this musical Vancouver I should have thought you would have known when a selection ended."

ARTS SOCIETY TO HONOR ARTISTS

The Island Arts and Crafts Society has made arrangements to hold a joint show and exhibition, to be held in the rooms of the Society on Wednesday evening, May 16, at 8.15 o'clock, in honor of Arthur Cheekley, artist, and Mrs. Cheekley, who have recently come to Victoria, and to Mr. R. F. Leslie, artist, and Mrs. Leslie who will soon be leaving for England.

A series of Mr. Cheekley's paintings will be on view and a musical programme is also being arranged.

Change of Time—E. & N. Ry. on May 23.

The Hon. Harold Montgomery and Mrs. Montgomery have arrived in Canada from Kenya Colony, Africa, and are visiting friends in Toronto before coming on to Victoria.

WOMEN'S AFFAIRS

BELGIAN QUEEN OF BEAUTY

MISS ANNE KEYAERT

who will be "Miss Belgium" at the International Pageant of Pulchritude in Galveston, Texas, on June 2 to 5, for which city she sailed on May 7. She was selected in a nation-wide contest conducted by Le Soir, prominent Brussels newspaper. Hundreds of applicants sought the honor of coming to Galveston as "Miss Belgium" but in the elimination by a jury of artists, sculptors, and other Brussels notables, contestants were sifted down to twenty-five of the most beautiful. In turn those who were privileged to participate in the finals were reduced to nine. Motion pictures of the nine finalists were then made and shown in every principal city of Belgium, each patron of the theatres being privileged to vote for his or her choice. Miss Keyaert won by a large majority. According to advices received from Le Soir, the merchants of Brussels have united in providing a most elaborate trousseau for "Miss Belgium" and the entire city is provided many hospitalities prior to her departure for America.

It is intended to keep a complete list of all returned soldiers in Victoria and vicinity, whether Canadian, Imperial, or United States nursing services.

Among those attending the reunion were: Mrs. R. B. Robertson, Mrs. E. A. Dixon, Mrs. E. C. Ball, Mrs. M. A. Morrow, Mrs. W. A. Turner, Miss M. Hodges, Miss M. E. Morrison, Miss E. Franks, Miss E. Alexander, Miss A. Williams, Miss L. Gregory-Allen, Miss Lazenby-Rose, Miss E. Saunders and Miss M. Craighed.

ACCLAIM WIFE OF FRENCH PRETENDER

Duchess of Guise Greeted With "Long Live the Queen" in Paris

Paris, May 14.—The almost forgotten cry, "Long Live the Queen," was heard in the streets of Paris again today when a procession of Royalists, who were paying homage to the memory of Joan of Arc, spied the Duchess of Guise, wife of the claimant to the French throne, standing at a window overlooking the statue of the Maid of Orleans in the Rue des Pyramides.

The duchess smiled, but disclaiming the honor with a wave of her hand the leaders of the procession immediately silenced their followers.

More than 30,000 people observed the saint's national festival by assembling before her statues in various parts of Paris and thousands of others heard solemn mass in her honor in churches.

CHILDREN TAKE ADVANTAGE OF GRANDPARENTS' KINDNESS

Mrs. R. C. writes:—"My little boy will be four years old in April. He is well-built, weighs forty-seven pounds, is healthy, has regular habits and is a normal, fine boy. When I take him along strangers he is good and I am proud of him, but when I take him to his grandmother's it's a different story. From the minute he gets inside the door he is a disgrace. Wild, destructive, the very air of the place seems to breed ideas of devilment. She is inclined to spoil him and he finds protection no matter what the offense. But where is my discipline? It has become so bad that members of the family have invited me to stay at home with him."

ANSWER

This situation seems to me quite a normal one. What child would fail to take advantage of such a weak defense? Your boy knows by experience that you are a comparatively helpless. Naturally he does all the things, that at other times he knows better than to do. Also your shocked comments on his behavior, and the consternation of

The "CANARY" MURDER CASE
By S. S. VAN DINE
Author of "The Benson Murder Case"

No one spoke; yet I felt that an entire tragedy was somehow being enacted, and that each actor heard and understood every word.

Markham remained standing, as if reluctant to proceed. Of all the duties of his office, I knew that the arrest of a man for the murder of a woman was the most distasteful to him. He was a worldly man, with the worldly man's tolerance for the misfortunes of evil. Heath and Stallman had stepped forward and now awaited with passive alertness for the district attorney's order to serve the warrant.

Spotswoode's eyes were again on Markham.

"What can I do for you, sir?" His voice was calm and without the faintest quaver.

"You can accompany these officers, Mr. Spotswoode," Markham told him quietly, with a slight inclination of his head toward the two imperious figures at his side. "I arrest you for the murder of Margaret Odell."

"Ah!" Spotswoode's eyebrows lifted mildly. "Then you have discovered something?"

"The Beethoven Andante."

Not a muscle of Spotswoode's face moved, but after a short pause he made a barely perceptible gesture of resignation.

"I can't say that it was wholly unexpected," he said evenly, with the tragic suggestion of a smile, "especially as you thwarted every effort of mine to secure the record. But then, the fortunes of the game are always uncertain."

His smile faded, and his manner became grave. "You have acted generously toward me, Mr. Markham, in shielding me from the canals; but because I appreciate that courtesy I should like you to know that the game I played was one in which I had no alternative."

"Your motive, however powerful," said Markham, "cannot extenuate your crime."

"Do you think I seek extenuation?" Spotswoode dismissed the imputation with a contemptuous gesture. "I'm not a schoolboy. I calculated the consequences of my course of action, and after weighing the various factors involved, decided to risk it.

"It was a gamble, to be sure; but it's not my habit to complain about the misfortunes of a deliberately planned risk. Furthermore, the choice was practically forced upon me. Had I not gambled in this instance, I stood to lose heavily nevertheless."

His face grew bitter.

"This woman, Mr. Markham, had demanded the impossible of me. Not content with bleeding me financially, she demanded legal protection, position, social prestige—such things as only my name could give her."

"She informed me I must divorce my wife and marry her. I wonder if you appreciate the enormity of that demand?"

"You see, Mr. Markham, I love my wife, and I have children whom I love. I will not insult your intelligence by explaining how, despite my conviction, such a thing is entirely possible. And yet, this woman commanded me to wreck my life and crush utterly those I held dear, solely to gratify her petty, ridiculous ambition."

"When I refused, she threatened to expose our relations to my wife, to send her copies of the letters I had written, to sue me publicly—in fine, to create such a scandal that, in any event, my life would be ruined, my family disgraced, my home destroyed."

"He paused and drew a deep inspiration.

"I have never been partial to half-way measures," he continued impassively. "I have no talent for compromise. Perhaps I am a victim of my heritage. But my instinct is to play out a hand to the last chip—to force whatever danger threatens."

"And for just five minutes, a week ago, I understood how the fanatics of old could, with a calm mind and a sense of righteousness, torture their enemies who threatened them with spiritual destruction. I chose the only course which might save those I love from disgrace and suffering. It meant taking a desperate risk. But the blood within me was such that I did not hesitate, and I was fired by the agony of a tremendous hate. I staked my life against a living death, on the remote chance of attaining peace."

And I smiled faintly.

"Again he smiled faintly.

"Yes—the fortunes of the game. . . . But don't think for a minute that I am complaining or seeking sympathy. I have led to others perhaps, but not to myself. I desire a winner—a self-accuser. I want you to understand that."

He reached to the table at his side and took up a small limp-leather volume.

"Only last night I was reading Wilde's 'De Profundis.' Had I been gifted with words, I might have made a similar confession. Let me show you what I mean so that, at least, you won't attribute to me the final infamy of cravenness."

CHAPTER XIV.

Spotswoode opened the book, and began reading in a voice whose very fervor held us all silent:

"I brought about my own downfall. No one, be he high or low, need be ruined by any other hand than his own. Readily as I confess this, there are many who will, at this time, at least, receive the confession sceptically. And, although I thus mercifully accuse myself, bear in mind that I do so without offering any excuse."

"Terrible as is the punishment inflicted upon me by the world, more terrible is the ruin I have brought upon myself. . . . In the dawn of manhood I recognized my position. . . . I enjoyed an honored name, an eminent social position."

"Then came the turning point. I had become tired of dwelling on the heights—and descended by my own will into the depths. I satisfied my desires wherever it suited me, and passed on. I forgot that every act, even the most insignificant act, of daily life, in some degree makes or un-makes the character; and every occurrence which transpires in the decision of the character will determine the character of the day.

"I lost control of myself. I was no longer at the helm, and knew it not. . . . One thing only is left to me—complete humility."

He tossed the book aside.

"You understand now, Mr. Markham?"

Markham did not speak for several moments.

"Do you care to tell me about Skeel?" he at length asked.

"That swine!" Spotswoode sneered his disgust. "I could murder such creatures every day and regard myself as a benefactor of society. Yes, I strangled him, and I would have done it before, only the opportunity did not offer. . . . It was Skeel who was hiding in the closet when I returned to the apartment after the theatre, and he must have seen me kill the woman."

"Has I known he was hiding that locked closet door, I would have broken it down and wiped him out then. But that the closet might have been kept locked, I didn't give it a second thought. . . . And the next night he telephoned me to the club here."

On Wednesday evening at the United Church Manse, Courtenay, the Rev. W. A. Alexander united in marriage William Vass of Sandwick and Mrs. Mary Ann Gee.

BEDTIME STORY
Uncle Wiggily and the Lemonade

Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

"Uncle Wiggily," said Baby Bunty one warm day, "do you know how I can make any money?" Bunty was so much in earnest that she did not speak any baby talk as often she had done before.

"Money!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose. "What do you want of money, Baby Bunty?"

"I want to buy a new doll," answered the little rabbit girl. "I saw a lovely one in the eight and nine cent store when I can buy for seven cents. But I haven't the seven cents. Where can I get some pennies?"

"Well," answered Uncle Wiggily slowly, as he turned one ear upside down so a little bug which had fallen in would drop out. "If you will go to the woods and look for the money vine, I think."

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! I'm not fooling!"

"Want to buy some lemonade?" asked Bunty

Really! I need money!" cried Bunty. "Please don't tease me!"

"Well," said Mr. Longears again, "if I wanted money."

But just then Bunty gave a delighted little scream and pointed to Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy who was coming back from the store. The muskrat lady housekeeper had a bag in her paws.

"Lemons!" cried Baby Bunty. "Lemons! I smell 'em! Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Get some of Nurse Jane's lemons and you and I will make some lemonade and sell it at a roadside stand and we'll make money and I can buy that new seven-cent doll all at the eight and nine-cent store! Hurrah!"

"Oh," said Uncle Wiggily, just as that, "so I'm to help you make the lemonade and sell it so you can get money; is that it?"

"Yes," answered Baby Bunty so cutely that the rabbit gentleman did not have the heart to say no. In to the hollow stump bungalow he hopped after Nurse Jane, and soon he came out with some lemons.

"Now," said Baby Bunty, confident like and calm, "if you will get a pitcher and some water and some glasses and a box for a stand to make the lemonade and sell it and get money."

"Oh, all right," spoke the gentleman, blinking his eyes.

"Then it is agreed," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "Bunty set up a lemonade stand on a path through the forest. Uncle Wiggily did most of the work, but Bunty would take in the money when any one came to buy."

"And getting money is the hardest part," said the little rabbit Wiggily. "Often it is agreed that Bunty should take in the money when any one came to buy."

"They had not long been long there when, all of a sudden, along came the Old Tramp Dog who had the funny puzzle words on the blackboard."

"They had not long been long there when, all of a sudden, along came the Old Tramp Dog who had the funny puzzle words on the blackboard."

"Want to buy some lemonade?" asked Bunty.

"I'd love some lemonade," barked the Old Tramp Dog, "but I have no money to pay for it."

"I'll give you a glass of lemonade if you tell me the answer to my puzzle."

"Then it is agreed," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "Bunty set up a lemonade stand on a path through the forest. Uncle Wiggily did most of the work, but Bunty would take in the money when any one came to buy."

"And getting money is the hardest part," said the little rabbit Wiggily. "Often it is agreed that Bunty should take in the money when any one came to buy."

Glenna Collett Beats Champion

Mlle. Thion, of France, Eliminated In Opening Round of British Golf

American Girl Registers 3-1 Victory Over French Star in Hard-fought Match; Mlle. Thion Reaches Turn One Up, But Miss Collett Flashes Spectacular Golf on Way Home to Forge Into Lead and Hold It; Miss Williamson, of England, Defeats Miss Miller, of Detroit

Hunstanton, Eng., May 14.—Glenna Collett, long-hitting American golfer, to-day set out on her quest for the British women's championship at the expense of the defending champion, Mlle. Simone Thion de Lachau. Miss Collett defeated Mlle. Thion three up and one to play in a hard-fought match, opening the championship contest.

By a freak of the draw the two stars were forced to play in the first round of the play. The French girl won the title last year, marking the first departure of the cup from British possession. It is the only major British golf title never won by an American.

THREE BALLS OUT OF BOUNDS

Mlle. Thion was off in front by taking the first hole. The American challenger came back at the second to square accounts, but after the third was halved. Mlle. Thion again took the lead at the fourth. The fifth and sixth were halved and Miss Collett, squaring the match at the seventh. Glenna lost control at the eighth and sent three balls out of bounds to wind up with a nine. She was not confused by the bad eighth, however, and won the ninth with a birdie to square the match. Coming home, the American entry struck her stride. She took the tenth and went up for the first time. The eleventh was halved, but another four won the twelfth for Miss Collett and she was two up. The champion won the thirteenth, but slipped on the next hole to two over par, while Miss Collett hit a mighty drive to the green and scored a par three. When Miss Collett won the fifteenth she was down three. Mlle. Thion came back for the last time to take the sixteenth, and reduce the advantage of her opponent to two with two to play. When the American took the seventeenth the match was over.

SENSATIONAL GOLF

The play was sensational throughout. Starting her drive at the ninth when she squared the match, Glenna was free out of the next seven holes played. There were halves on only four of the seventeen holes played.

Previously Great Britain had drawn the first blood when Miss Madge Miller, of Oakland Hills, Detroit, was eliminated 3 and 1, by Miss Elizabeth Williamson, of the Royal Cromer Club.

A storm burst on the players at the ninth, with a driving rain and a cold raw wind from the North Sea. Sunshine prevailed earlier.

Miss Collett missed a one-yard putt on the short fourth and lost the hole to the defending champion, who had made a tricky five-footer. Both girls were obviously under a great nervous strain.

The fifth hole was halved in five, Miss Collett losing a chance to even the score when a long putt jumped out of the cup.

Miss Collett sank a twelve-foot putt to halve the sixth in four and then squared the match at the seventh, going down in four, while Mlle. de Lachau made a five after being trapped in the sand near the green.

The French girl went ahead again at the eighth. Miss Collett giving up the hole after slicing three balls out of bounds.

Miss Collett drew even at the ninth with a birdie four. Two screaming crowds carried her eighty feet past the pin and she then laid the ball dead to drop it easily with her next, while the French girl took a five.

Following were the cards for the first nine:

Glenna	44545449-44
Thion	36534565-42

There were at least 2,000 following the match by this time.

Miss Collett went into the lead for the first time at the tenth, taking a four while the French girls needed a five.

The eleventh was halved in five, but Glenna became two up on the twelfth with a par four to the champion's six.

The champion regained a hole at the thirteenth with a par four to five for the challenger. Glenna missed a five foot putt for the half, while Simone ran hers down four feet. Officials announced that there must be no applause but the gallery broke into a ripple of approval when the fighting DROVE THE GREEN.

Miss Collett went two up again by winning the fourteenth with a par 3. She drove the 221-yard green and was down in two putts. Mlle. Thion was in a bunker from the tee and five was the best she could do. Miss Collett became down three by taking the fifteenth with a five to a six for the champion. Both were in trouble on the short hole. The challenger needed but a half c to one of the next three holes to win.

Mlle. Thion, needing to win three holes in a row took the sixteenth, leaving Miss Collett down two.

Miss Collett this afternoon was paired against Miss Shirley Lamplough, eighteen-year-old English girl, who made a good impression in the English championship last year.

Miss Maude Hunniford, a New England girl, who has lived in England, was defeated by Mrs. A. G. Johnston, of London, runner-up in the French championship last year, in the first round to-day.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, won her first round match from Miss Irene Duxford, London, 5 and 4.

WALLACE WINS MACAULAY PT. GOLF LAURELS

Sixteen-year-old Boy Is Crowned Men's Champion By 5 and 4 Victory

Defeats Willard Wills, Another Young Player, After Splendid Match

Norman Wallace, sixteen years old, is a new men's champion of the Macaulay Point Golf Club. In the final six-hole match yesterday Wallace defeated Willard Wills, twenty years old, by 5 and 4.

It was the first major tournament played in by Wallace, who is a product of Eddie Burns, the Macaulay Point pro. He played great golf right through the tournament, shooting a tie 1 the honors in the qualifying round, a start, and following this up with a good victory in all his matches. He succeeds to the crown won a year by J. A. Montgomery.

GOOD ALLY

A hot gallery followed the youngsters during the deciding round. Neither appeared to be worried by the spectators and played very good golf for a first.

At the end of the first nine the boys were all square, but when they went to lunch at the end of the first eighteen, Wallace had gained a lead of three holes.

In the afternoon they played the best golf of the day. Wallace was one under-fourteen out, while Wills was one over eleven at the seventh hole, a double. Wallace picked up one hole on the ninth, and gained another at the eleventh when he holed a three. The boys halved the remaining two holes.

The morning's scores were as follows:

Wallace	44455574-41
Wills	34545874-41

In Wallace 54454543-39
Wills 34455653-42

The cards for the afternoon were as follows:

Wallace	33545453-35
Wills	33445573-37

In Wallace 43534-19
Wills 44534-20

In the final of the first flight A. C. Smith defeated C. Christopher by one up.

TORONTO BASEBALL TEAM STICK AT TOP BY GREAT DISPLAY

New York, May 14.—Though their winning streak was broken at St. Paul, the Toronto Maple Leafs again led the International League for the week ending Saturday.

Their surprising total was reached by playing three double headers. The Leafs made more hits and more runs than any other club, were tied with Newark for the lead in the International League.

STARTS OFF VERY WELL

GLENN COLLETT

This American miss is invading England again in quest of the British women's golf championship. She started off to-day by defeating Mlle. Thion de Lachau 3 and 1. The French girl won the British championship last year and it was a feat of the draw that these two stars should meet in the first round. It was said that the winner of this match would win the title. Miss Collett will have to play several promising young English players in the next few rounds.

Hagen Beat 3 and 2 By Boomer In France

Open Golf Champion of France Scores Victory Over "The Haig" in Thirty-six-hole Match Before Gallery of 3,000, Largest Ever Witnessing Match on Continent; Boomer Plays Sound Game

St. Cloud, France, May 14.—Fresh from his triumph in the British open, Walter Hagen, dapper American golf star, bowed to Aubrey Boomer, French open champion, in a special thirty-six-hole exhibition match here yesterday.

Aided by the fact that he was playing on his own course, Boomer bettered the figures to beat the American pro before 3,000 persons, the largest gallery ever followed golfers on this side of the English Channel.

Hagen was five down at the end of the morning round when Boomer, playing at the top of his game, scored a 70, one under par. The American was unacquainted with the course, and had some difficulty with his putter and sometimes was inaccurate with his approaches.

In the afternoon Hagen reached the turn in 32, three under par, but at that time he was five down at the end of the morning round when Boomer, playing at the top of his game, scored a 70, one under par. The American was unacquainted with the course, and had some difficulty with his putter and sometimes was inaccurate with his approaches.

The American frequently was trapped, while Boomer, mistaking, never permitted Hagen to draw nearer than two down.

Hagen expects to go to Berlin and Vienna within a few days, then to the Riviera and later to Ireland, returning home in June.

SONS BATTLE OLD-TIMERS

Kerr or Moser to Hurt For Sons; McDonald or Todd to Take Mound For "Vets"

Sons of Canada and Old-timers will meet to-night at the Royal Athletic Park in a Senior Amateur League ball game. The teams will start playing at 6:15 o'clock.

Roy Copas, manager of the Sons, announced this morning that he is attempting to have Johnny Kerr's suspension lifted in order that he may pitch this evening. Kerr was suspended for a month by the British Columbia Amateur Baseball Association.

If Kerr is not able to pitch, Mober may take the mound for the Sons.

McDonald or Doc Todd will most likely be the old-timers' choice for mound duty. Both these men should be able to hold the Sons in check.

In their opening game, the Old-timers fell before the heavy hitting of the Eagles. The Sons and Eagles are at present leading the league with one victory each.

Softball Teams Play To-night

Teams in the Westholme Softball League will start playing to-night with three games scheduled.

McQUADE WILL MEET THOMAS IN GOLF FINAL

Colwood Champ Finds Himself Pitted Against Steady Veteran of Links

Thomas Finally Succeeded in Getting By Dr. G. Hall, His Stumbling Block

Ed. McQuade, defending champion, and Frank Thomas, veteran of many championships, reached the finals of the men's championship of the Colwood Golf Club yesterday by winning their matches in the semi-finals. They will meet in the thirty-six-hole final on May 20.

Thomas got by his nemesis of the last three years by defeating Dr. George Hall 4 and 3 in the third round yesterday morning. Dr. Hall had the Indian sign on Thomas in the three previous club championships, putting his opponent out in one round or another. Yesterday, however, Thomas breezed along in his old consistent style and his game was too much for Hall.

A TOUGH CUSTOMER

In the afternoon Thomas ran into a tough customer in Mickey Richardson, who carried him to the seventeenth hole before he was eliminated by 2 and 1.

In the morning Richardson had beaten R. J. Darcus by 2 and 1. He won the match at the seventeenth when he holed out for a birdie three.

McQuade played very well all day. He defeated Harry Hodges 4 and 1 in the morning and following this up with an overwhelming victory over Golden Terry by 6 and 5 in the afternoon.

Terry had previously met Art Christopher, another of the younger set, out in the morning by 5 and 3 and was expected to give McQuade a closer match.

MATSON SURPRISED

The major upset of the day was provided by Alex Straith in the semi-finals of the first flight when he defeated Jack Matson 5 and 3. Straith had another good round like he pulled in the qualifying rounds two weeks before.

Jack Findlay had to go to the twenty-second hole to beat George Brady in the finals of the second flight.

The results of yesterday's play were as follows:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT—THIRD ROUND

F. Thomas won from Dr. George Hall, 4 and 3.
J. H. Richardson won from R. J. Darcus, 2 and 1.
E. C. McQuade won from H. P. Hodges, 4 and 2.
G. M. Terry won from A. B. Christopher, 5 and 3.

SEMI-FINALS

F. Thomas won from J. H. Richardson, 5 and 3.
E. C. McQuade won from G. M. Terry, 6 and 5.

FIRST FLIGHT

J. R. Matson won from C. I. Mackenzie, 3 and 2.
A. Straith won from J. L. Mara, 3 and 2.
Dr. Haynes won from Dr. Bryant, 7 and 6.
L. D. Rines won from W. Cathcart, 3 and 2.

SEMI-FINALS

A. Straith won from J. R. Matson, 5 and 3.
L. D. Rines won from Dr. Haynes, 3 and 2.

SECOND FLIGHT—FINALS

J. N. Findlay won from George Brady, twenty-second hole.

Mrs. Eve Defeats Mrs. Wilding And Wins Golf Title

In a spirited match Mrs. Cecil Eve won the women's championship of the Uplands Golf Club on Saturday by defeating Mrs. Wilding, defending champion, at the nineteenth hole.

The extra hole Mrs. Eve had a five to her opponent's six and won the title. Mrs. Wilding, besides carrying her Uplands' title into the nineteenth hole, also has the prestige of the women's city championship with her. Mrs. Wilding won the women's championship of the Colwood Golf Club last week.

The match was keenly contested and witnessed by a good crowd. Mrs. Wilding was three up at the turn, but the strong play of Mrs. Eve in the second nine brought the score all square at the eighteenth.

Liabon, May 14.—New Zealand's Davis Cup team advanced to the third round of the European zone play yesterday by eliminating Portugal, 4 to 1.

After the two teams had split even in two singles matches Saturday, the New Zealanders swept through to victory in the doubles and two singles matches yesterday.

In the doubles Ed. Andrews and Young of New Zealand defeated Jose Verda and Vascon Cellos, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2. Andrews defeated Jose Verda in the singles, 5-3, 6-4, 6-1, and Young beat Pinto Coelho, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-0.

Zurich, May 14.—Switzerland remained in the running for the Davis Cup yesterday by taking the doubles match from India, which had won both singles encounters yesterday.

Aschmann and Ferrier, the Swiss team started shakily, dropping the first two sets, 4-6, 8-10, to the Indian team of Pitt and Sout. Here the Swiss rallied and captured the next three sets and match, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

Fencer Killed In Championship Bout

Brussels, May 13.—During a fencing match to decide the open championship of Belgium, a fencer was killed when the button became detached from his opponent's weapon. The blade penetrated the fencer's body for six inches near the right lung.

Cincinnati Displace Giants At Top While Uhle Grants One Hit

McGraw's Boys Find Chicago Cubs Very Ferocious and Lose, While Cincinnati Pound Out Fine Victory; Cleveland Smother the Philadelphia Athletics, When Uhle Just Misses No-hit Game for His Sixth Victory of Year; Some Weird Scoring Incidents in Games

Set in the hostile haunts of the ferocious Cubs, John McGraw's New York Giants have yielded the National League leadership to the Cincinnati Reds.

Jack Hendrick's crew moved to the head of the league yesterday by defeating Philadelphia 11-4, while the Giants were losing their second game in a row to the Chicago Cubs 6-5.

George Uhle turned in a one-hit pitching classic at Cleveland as the Indians beat the Philadelphia Athletics for the second day in a row, 2-0. Only twenty-eight men faced the veteran Indian pitcher. Cochran doubled in the second inning, but was left there when his mates could not solve Uhle's puzzling game.

Later in the game Uhle passed Boley, the only one he gave, but the Athletics' shortstop was snuffed out in a double play. It was Uhle's sixth win of the season.

New York, May 14.—A first inning rally producing four runs was all that the Yanks needed to help Pennock trim Detroit 7-2 here yesterday, making it two straight.

Four singles, a base on balls and a sacrifice fly turned the trick. Taverer's triple and Shea's single produced Detroit's first run. Rice hit a homer in the second.

Mark Koenig starred at bat with four hits in five times up, while Ruth got three in four.

George Uhle held Philadelphia to one hit and Indians took their second straight game from the Athletics at Cleveland 2-0. It was Uhle's sixth win of the season, and he fanned six of the visitors.

The Senators rallied into three Chicago White Sox pitchers for sixteen hits at Washington and took their second game of the series 10-3. Hayes led the batmen with three hits, including a three bagger. Only three games scheduled.

The results in the American League were:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Detroit	R. H. E.
New York	7 15 1
Batteries: Gibson and Shea; Pennock and Collins.
Washington	10 16 1
Chicago	3 7 3
Batteries: Hadley and Tate; Barnabe, Cox and Crouse.
Philadelphia	0 1 0
Cleveland	2 5 0
Batteries: Rommel and Cochran; Uhle and Sewell.

New York, May 14.—Brooklyn broke its losing streak at home yesterday by emerging triumphant against the Chicago Pirates by a score of 8-5. Crimes led the rout in a wild ball game, allowing eleven hits and giving six bases on balls.

Cincinnati went into first place in the league race by defeating Philadelphia 11-4 at Cincinnati and with New York losing to Chicago. The game was a hitting bee, the visitors greeting Carl Mays with a single and two triples which, with an error gave them three runs in the first inning. Reds scored six runs after two were out in the same inning.

Richburg, Boston Braves' right fielder, crashed out a homer and a double to score four of the runs which defeated the St. Louis Cards 6-5 at home yesterday.

Results in the National League:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York	R. H. E.
Chicago	5 8 3
Batteries: Falkner, Henry and Farrell; Bush, Blake and Gougeon.
Philadelphia	4 7 0
Cincinnati	11 17 1
Batteries: Walsh, McEwen, Mitchell and Schulte; Mays and Gargrave.
Pittsburgh	5 7 7
Brooklyn	8 11 0
Batteries: Gooch; Hemley, Elliott and Hargrave.

Boston, May 14.—Boston Braves' right fielder, crashed out a homer and a double to score four of the runs which defeated the St. Louis Cards 6-5 at home yesterday.

Share's withdrawal reduced the field to fifty-five.

Frank S. von Flue, Korman, Calif., finished fourth yesterday in 8:10.1, total time, 55:57.18, and Quisto Ume, Trieste, Italy, came in fifth in 8:10.30, with an elapsed time of 51:37.41.

The twelve leaders in the transcontinental foot race and their elapsed time for the 2,804 miles covered to date follows:

Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., 49:48.22.
John Salo, Passaic, N.J., 48:57.49.

"Two Arabian Knights," With William Boyd and Mary Astor, Is Comedy-drama at Dominion

Boyd as Infantry Private and Louis Wolheim as Sergeant in Original Story Form Comical Team; Story of Arab Prison Camp With Swiftly-moving Scenes

Has the mantle of the beloved Wally Reid fallen on William Boyd, as some critics think? His latest picture, "Two Arabian Knights," at the Dominion Theatre, shows him in the type of part that the great "Wally" would have loved to play.

Picture experts see in Boyd a return to the American, Nordic type of star, displaced for the last few years by popularity of Latin leading men. Boyd has a twinkling eye and a devil-may-care smile. His film history alone is distinctly an American story of success, too, because it was only after years of struggle and disappointment that he attained the heights.

Despite his wealth of experience, this comedy-drama of two soldiers at the close of the war and what happens to them, is really Boyd's first effort in a film production dealing with hilarious situations almost exclusively. The dramatic moments in "Two Arabian Knights" are employed to make amusing incidents funnier by contrast. Boyd's role in the film is the part of a rich young private of infantry, who, like all privates, hates his top sergeant. How these two characters are thrown together, and how they indulge in a series of personal fights until dangerous circumstances compel them to be buddies as part of the story, which serves to give Boyd a heroic character as well as one the spectators may laugh with throughout the swiftly-moving film.

Louis Wolheim plays the sergeant. He was the original Captain Plagg of "What Price Glory" when it opened on the stage in New York.

Patriotic Film Of Navy Showing At the Coliseum

"Second to None" is British Picture With Strong Appeal

"Second to None," playing at the Coliseum Theatre this week, is a British naval film produced by Britannia Films from a story by "Bartimeus." Based on a theme of the high sense of duty in all ranks of the senior service, the film has a strong vein of patriotic sentiment. The film was produced with the co-operation of the Admiralty and was in fact the first film to secure this facility. Some of its scenes were the first to be "shot" on H.M.S. Tiger and other warships, and an unique feature of the production is that every scene which purports to take place on board a warship, including interior scenes in the officers' quarters and in the lower deck mess, was actually taken on a warship and not reconstructed in the studio. The film therefore achieves a record in naval realism, since such a thing has never been done before. Many of these scenes involved considerable difficulty, as for instance, one in which Moore Marriott climbs to the masthead to replace the flag, which has been shot away, but the producer insisted on the maintenance of actuality in the naval scenes whatever the technical or other difficulties involved. The film has a big climax in graphic pictures of a sea battle. The cast, headed by Moore Marriott in the role of the sailor hero, includes Ian Fleming, Benita Hume, Micky Brantford, Aggie Brantford, Johnny Butt, A. B. Imeson and Alf Goddard. The film was produced by Jack Raymond under the personal supervision of Miss Dinah Shurey.

A special prologue for the picture, "Second to None," by members of the Navy League of Canada, Victoria branch, assisted by Frederick Shepherd, Vancouver's popular Scotch tenor, will be enacted on the stage at 9 p.m. each night, and at the two matinees, Wednesday and Saturday.

Funniest Colored Character of Films Appears at Variety

Raymond Turner Plays Part of Servant in "The Love Mart"

Raymond Turner is becoming recognized as the funniest colored character on the screen. This is the verdict of most movie-goers who have seen his latest role in "The Love Mart," the George Fitzmaurice production for First National Pictures, with Billie Dove, Gilbert Roland and Noah Beery, which is now showing at the Variety Theatre.

Turner appears as Poupet, colored body servant of Roland, who, in the role of Victor Jallot, plays opposite Miss Dove.

Turner has to appear frightened most of the time, with gleaming teeth and the whites of his eyes largely visible. He creates laugh after laugh by his mannerisms and his consummate skill as an actor.

Noah Beery is the villain in the story, and Armand Kalis, Emile Chautard and others are in the supporting cast.

Russian Ballet School of Dancing Will Sponsor Feature Saturday at Royal

The Russian Ballet School of Dancing will produce a dance revue at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday, May 19, which has unusual features. Twenty-two numbers, including five ballets, make up the large and ambitious programme featuring Russian, Hungarian, Spanish, Oriental, English and other national dances; as well as Grecian, toe, acrobatic, tap and popular dancing.

The work of the juniors naturally occupies a good share of the programme, and the two youngest, just little tots of two years and three years of age, will surprise with their knowledge of technique and rhythm. The talent of the juniors has ample scope in such scenes as "The Dollmaker's Shop," where seemingly lifeless dolls and toys come to life at the striking of the midnight hour; in "Nursery Rhymes," where Old Mother Goose calls the characters to life from out of a large book specially built for the purpose; or the Dutch number entitled "Little Hollanders," and "By the Sea Waves," in which the children display acrobatics and a keen sense of comedy. They are also seen to advantage as butterflies, bees and flower spirits, supported by the seniors in a ballet entitled "In a Rose Garden."

Outstanding among the seniors' numbers are "The Russian Ballet," depicting a Russian peasant wedding feast. In this will be shown some really fine Russian dancing, together with cleverly arranged comedy and pantomime. "The Peacock" is the title of a beautiful ballet wherein all the dancers will be on toes. This is a very graceful and effective number. Another ballet entitled "In a Rose Garden," shows a fine example of the Grecian art of dancing, while popular "Follies" dancing and other types show versatility.

The costumes are a blaze of color, and special care has been taken to insure correct detail of atmosphere.

GLEE SINGERS TO VISIT VICTORIA

Will Sing Under Auspices of Gyro Club Next Month

Many years ago, Edward Branscombe, at that time one of the leading tenor soloists of Westminster Abbey choir, conceived the idea of taking out to the various parts of the Empire a combination of cathedral boys and men, for the purpose of exemplifying the great cultural value of unaccompanied part-singing. It was the idea of a man who loved the old music of his country and wanted to carry its inspiration and beauty to the far places of the Empire.

The first tour was in Canada—twenty years ago—and so great was the success of the venture that in later years every part of the English-speaking world was visited, and tours of Java, Manila, Portuguese East Africa, German West Africa, China and Japan were undertaken. They were all successful. Now Mr. Branscombe is back in Canada, and presents his Westminster Glee Singers here at the Royal Victoria Theatre on June 1 and 2, under the auspices of the Gyro Club.

The present combination consists of six of England's most famous soprano soloists, and of adults two male altos, three tenors and two basses, all vocalists of standing and pre-eminent experience in the difficult art of part-singing. Whilst anthems and carols are a part of their extensive repertoire, they rely mainly on the attraction of secular part-music, consisting of many of the choral gems which have been provided in such plenty by the leading British composers. Their programmes will be found to contain a great diversity of styles, embracing a considerable amount of light numbers, solos and vocal accompaniment, all of which are humorous, quaint, and many novelties of all descriptions. The unique feature of their entertainment is further heightened by its delightful method of presentation. The stiff formality of the ordinary concert platform has been discarded, and many of the items are sung in a beautiful stage setting, with the added charm of colored lighting, and much effective and novel grouping of the singers.

NEW CAMERA FOR AEROPLANE WORK

New York, May 14.—An aerial camera with a range of more than five miles, designed to photograph areas as large as four square miles, has been built for the United States Army Air Corps, the manufacturers announced today.

It will receive its first tests here within two weeks and will be sent then to Wright Field at Dayton, Ohio, where it will be installed in an army plane for extensive experimental work.

The camera was made by the Fairchild Aerial Camera Corporation for use at altitudes at which photography never before has been attempted and beyond the range of anti-aircraft guns. Picture taking at heights of 30,000 feet or more is made possible, Fairchild authorities say, by devices which include an electrical heating system to prevent the shutter from freezing at temperatures as low as 60 degrees below zero.

The machine has complete automatic control and operation, including a device to record the time the picture was taken, the altitude, the time of each exposure and other useful data.

Big New Building In Terminal City

Vancouver, May 14.—Tentative plans have been drawn for a twelve-story office building to be constructed on the site immediately north of the post office here by Macaulay, Nicolls, Mailand and Company Limited. The structure will cost more than $1,000,000, it is understood. It has been suggested the Merchants' Exchange occupy the ground floor and that the building be named the Merchants' Exchange Building. While no date for the commencement of construction has been set and the decision to build is not officially an accomplished fact, the negotiations have reached a point where the project is virtually under way.

Richard Barthelmess Plays Pleasing Role in "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come"

Feature Picture at Capitol Theatre Shows Popular Star in Unforgettable Picture; Snappy Vaudeville With Fanchon and Marco Star and Artists Formerly on Staff of KOMO

"Tolable David" has been re-incarnated—reborn under the magic touch of Richard Barthelmess, who once again has created a barefoot boy, in First National's "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," the idyllic film-drama, this week's feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre.

As Chad Buford, the Kentucky mountain lad, who dreamed of "the settlements" books and grand persons, Dick Barthelmess has added another lovable and unforgettable portrait to his already brilliant gallery.

Throughout the last few years Barthelmess has grown to be more than a name or even a personality, merely incidental designations. He has become a symbol—Romance to Every girl and Son to Every mother—the Men boy. A very real Peter Pan, refusing to grow up, a mirror reflecting the boyhood days of Every man.

Dick Barthelmess as Chad Buford is a revelation, startling and breath-taking. It is uncanny that a man should be able to etch a delicate character such as Chad after the six-year inter-val since David.

On the stage at the Capitol this week is Pinkie Day, the well-known baritone singer, who has for the last three years been connected with the Fanchon and Marco vaudeville circuit, and has also starred with Eddie Peabody, the popular orchestra leader. Another act of importance is that of Kaye and Taggart, the late radio stars from station KOMO. Seattle harmony singers with piano and ukulele solos.

Judd McCoy, a specialty slow-motion dancer, and Harold Bechtel, complete the bill of vaudeville. The Capitol Orchestra play for their specialty numbers, "I'm Coming, Virginia" and "In My Bouquet of Memories."

Costello Sisters Are Both Cast In Playhouse Picture

Dolores Has Star Part in "Heart of Maryland" Now Playing Here

In "The Heart of Maryland," screen revival of Belasco's famous Civil War play, Warner Bros. for the first time have included the beautiful Costello sisters in one cast. Dolores in the star part of Maryland Calvert, Helene as Nancy, discarded love of the villainous Captain Thorpe, who plays such a disastrous role in the life of the heroine. Lloyd Bacon directed "The Heart of Maryland," which is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. Included in the cast are Walter Rodgers, who plays the part of General U. S. Grant, James Welch, as General Robert E. Lee, and Charles Edward Bull as Abraham Lincoln.

"The Heart of Maryland" is the play which brought such tremendous and deserved fame to Mrs. Leslie Carter almost thirty years ago. It is one of those authentic melodramas which never lose vitality, for 1928 thrills and weeps over it quite as copiously as did 1898.

"Body and Soul" Is Drama Playing At the Columbia

Four Strong Characters Make Main Cast in Dramatic Production

Few strong characters, involved in real dramatic situations, rather than a large cast with little for the players to do, is one of the features of "Body and Soul," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production now playing the Columbia Theatre.

The cast of this dramatic production consists of but four people, though there are several others who play what is known in studio parlance as "bits." Each of these four principals plays a vital part in the story—a part which would disrupt the entire drama were it withdrawn.

There is Aileen Pringle, the Swiss peasant girl who, through force of circumstances, weds a derelict English doctor.

The doctor, one of the stronger

"Flaming Mae" Hits Broadway

Mae West... is buxom now, opulently curved

By LEONARD HALL

New York, May 14.—Mae West, the Big Bad Girl of Broadway, is with us again—Mae of the rolling eye, the undulating hip, the gaudy entertainments.

She opened her newest show, "Dismond Lil," at the Royale Theatre here, and the Main Stem still is roaring.

Mae West certainly is one of the most astonishing characters the American theatre ever has produced. She came to light about ten years ago as a specialty dancer of remarkable voltage. For a season she appeared in the Rudolf Friml musical hit, "Sometime," and very nearly stole the show from under the emerging Ed Wynn.

Then came the shimmy mania, and that was the beginning of the end of the first phase of Mae West. She shook herself all over the variety stages of the republic. But such novelties have a way of dying very suddenly, and remaining extraordinarily dead, and when the shimmy passed out Mae checked out with it, and was no more seen.

TO THE WORKHOUSE

A year or two ago, out of the mist of obscurity, came a new Mae West.

She came slanting to Broadway with a show called "Sex," which ran for months here on the strength of heavy patronage by curious flappers and cake-eaters. At last the censors clamped down on Mae's piece of drama, and after a court trial the writer star was sent to the workhouse for ten days.

A little thing like a term in the hoosegow didn't slow Mae. In no time at all she was back in the ring with another affair called "The Drag." Next came "This Wicked Age," another typical West torch.

ANOTHER SCORCHER

Now detonates "Diamond Lil," latest in the Mae West lethal line.

The new opera is of the brand that only Mae writes and acts. She plays

Lil, girl friend of the King of the Bowery. All the characters are wild, wise-cracking, and no better than they should be.

Among the songs are a revival of "She's Only a Bird in Gilded Cage" and a pale pink version of the immortal "Frankie and Johnnie."

NO GIRLISH LINES

Mae West is a sight in herself. Gone are the old girlish lines. Mae is buxom now, opulently curved. A great mass of blood hair crowns a large, pretty face, from which languorous violet eyes dart destruction at any and all males in the vicinity. Just to see the girl walk is a liberal education, for she doesn't really walk, she slithers in the most astonishing fashion.

Censors come, dry up and blow away on the winds of time and change, but Mae West goes on forever. She is the great tangy-sensory of the Broadway Theatre. Just as the season gets dull and prosy, in undulates the Mae with one of her three ring circuses and the fun is on.

PICKED FROM THE BEST

Fashionable Shoes for The June Bride

The bride-elect for June has much to think about in May, and we will gladly help her in her shoe problem for we realize that much care is needed in the selection of the right footwear especially nowadays when skirts are short and shoes are conspicuous.

Wedding Shoes
First comes the consideration of the actual wedding shoes. We would suggest white kid shown in the new Grecian cut-out effects giving delicacy of line and being very becoming to the foot. Or white kid Madlyn fancy tie style may be equally becoming and in keeping with the bridal costume. Then there are one-strap and Colonial styles having simplicity for the keynote. Covered spike and Spanish heels are both correct and the choice rests with the bride herself. Prices, per pair, $7.00 and $9.00

Stylish Shoes for the Honeymoon
We are showing some of the latest models and colors including water-lily, honey-beige and rose-blush and patent leather fancy cut-out tie models beautifully trimmed with contrasting leathers. Also fawn beige and cocoa brown three-eyel Oxford tie models with lizard trimming. Choice of Cuban, Spanish and spike heels. Price, per pair, $7.00 to $10.00

Shoes to Wear With Sports Costume

A June honeymoon is likely to include some happy tramping jaunts and for these foot freedom and comfort are essential. But comfortable footwear may be graceful and well proportioned and so the bride will find these fashionable two-toned leather Oxfords with crepe or plain rubber soles and heels. These shoes will harmonize with the sports attire. Prices, per pair, $7.00 to $9.00

NEWS IN BRIEF

For failing to produce his driver's license upon the demand of a police officer, H. E. Matthews was fined $5 in the City Police Court this morning.

Jessie Southam, appearing in City Police Court this morning on a vagrancy charge, was released on suspended sentence with the provision that she return to the hospital for treatment.

When called in the City Police Court this morning to answer charges of selling liquor and of selling liquor to minors, Arthur W. Jaques, 725½ Port Street, failed to put in an appearance and a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

While backing into the company's Government Street stand this morning about 10:45 o'clock the G. & C. ambulance hit a light standard, breaking it into several pieces. The cluster lights crashed to the pavement but nobody was injured.

Charged with obtaining $20 from Ernest Hegei with intent to defraud, Eric Larson elected speedy trial by a judge without jury, before Judge Lampman in County Court to-day. The hearing was set for Friday at 2 p.m. Nugent W. Spinks appears for the prosecution.

Convicted on a charge of selling liquor in a local hotel, Knut Henry was fined $300, or, in default of payment, to serve three months imprisonment with hard labor, in the City Police Court this morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge. Chief Fry gave evidence against the accused.

Charles Foy, Chinaman, was fined $15 and $250 costs in the City Police Court this morning on a charge of having apparatus used for the purpose of smoking opium in his possession. The accused was arrested on Saturday night at 8 o'clock by Sergeant T. Heatley in premises at 554-556 Herald Street.

Although the regular series of dances has closed the C.P.R. Social Club will hold a dance at the Empress Hotel on the night of May 24. Dancing will be from 9 o'clock until 1 o'clock, with Oscar's orchestra supplying the music. The dance is being anticipated as one of the features of the holiday.

The Society of St. George will conclude its season's programme with a whist drive and dance to-morrow evening to be held in the Conservative Club room, Campbell Building, at 8 o'clock. Prizes are being offered for the whist drive, and refreshments will be served.

For driving his motorcycle to the common danger on Hillside Avenue, John G. Wenman was fined $25 in the City Police Court this morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge. Constable J. Peterson gave evidence to the effect that the accused had been travelling at a speed ranging from 42 to 52 miles an hour.

"Atheism and the Secret Doctrine" will be the subject under consideration to-night at 8 o'clock at a public meeting of the Victoria Independent Theosophical Society in the Jones Building, Fort Street. There will be an open discussion of the subject, in which visitors are invited to join.

George Reid appeared in the City Police Court this morning to answer a charge of bigamy. According to the charge, he is married to a woman named Cora May Lewis on January 3, 1925, when he was already married to another woman. He was remanded. The accused was arrested on May 12 by Detectives Phipps and Stark.

A special appeal is made by the local branch of the Automobile Club of British Columbia through the secretary, R. H. Webb, for motorists to drive slowly on the newly tarred portions of the Island Highway. Mr. Webb pointed out this morning that fast driving over the road will spoil the work now being carried out by the Department of Public Works.

Pete Lechuk, owner of the house where the men lived, was arrested on a charge of wounding.

Yesterday police searched the house and discovered bottles of alcohol hidden in a dresser. Lechuk was arrested and charged with a breach of the Ontario Liquor Control Act, and was later granted bail. It was understood he went home then and accused Black of informing the police and attacked him with a knife. Coruk was attempting to separate the men when he was stabbed.

There passed away on Saturday evening at the home of his niece, Mrs. J. A. Phillips, 7 Alma Place, Michigan Street, Miss Ellen Davies, aged ninety years, a native of Wales and a resident of this city for about twenty years. She leaves one nephew and five nieces. The remains are resting at the Thomson Funeral Home, 1025 Quadra Street, from where the funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the Rev. F. H. Patt will conduct the service. Interment will be made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

The death occurred Saturday evening at the home of her daughter, Melior Apartments, Broughton Street, Mrs. Nora Geake, aged seventy-seven years, a native of England and a resident of this city for the past thirty-nine years. She was survived by a daughter, Mrs. Youlden, and one son, H. Geake, also a sister, Mrs. J. Bright. The remains are at the Thomson Funeral Home from where the funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, M.A., rector of St. John's Church, will conduct the service. The remains will be laid to rest in Rose Bay Cemetery.

Port Hope, Ont., May 14.—It has been practically decided to enter an appeal to-morrow, stated F. Campbell, barrister of Port Hope, when asked if anything definite had been decided upon at a conference here between Mr. Campbell and W. F. Wilson, publisher of the "Northwestern News."

Frederick, defendants in the recent libel suit in which Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, the plaintiff, was awarded $500 damages.

Winipeg, May 14.—When her clothing was found in a fire which broke out near a bonfire here, Elsie Weinbeider, five years old, was fatally burned Saturday evening. She died in a hospital five hours after the accident.

Winnipeg, May 14.—When her clothing was found in a fire which broke out near a bonfire here, Elsie Weinbeider, five years old, was fatally burned Saturday evening. She died in a hospital five hours after the accident.

PLANE'S FLY TO BREMEN'S AID

Atlantic Monoplane to Be Flown From Belle Isle Strait to New York

Halifax, May 14.—The two United States army planes, en route to the Quebec shore on the Strait of Belle Isle, to assist the transatlantic monoplane Bremen in the resumption of its flight to New York, came down at Matland, Hants County, shortly after 11 o'clock this morning. Eastern daylight saving time, fifty miles short of Pictou, they announced destination. They had hopped off from St. John, N.B., at 8:45 Eastern daylight time.

St. John, N.B., May 14.—Mounting towards a clear sky, in brilliant sunshine, two United States army amphibian planes, which halted here on their way to relieve the German Junkers transatlantic monoplane on the Belle Isle coast of Quebec Province and enable it to be flown to New York, left St. John at 8:45 eastern daylight saving time this morning. CHOIRS WILL BE HEARD TO-NIGHT

Interesting Programme Will Be Given This Evening in Memorial Hall

An attractive programme is announced for the concert to be given this evening in the Memorial Hall on Vancouver Street, by the combined choirs of St. Margaret's School, St. George's School and Christ Church Cathedral Sunday School, assisted by Miss Dorothy Greenwood, pianist; Miss Mary Bucklin, cellist; Master George Taff, violinist; and Masters Brian and Desmond Purdon, pianists. Others taking part in the programme will be Master Richard Eaton, who will render a vocal solo, Master John Davies, who will also give a solo, and the Masters Billie Inglis and Kenneth Cave, who will be heard in a vocal duet.

ASK POOLEY OR TOLMIE, PREMIER SAYS

didate, and my job is to help him get elected. But, since I am here, I am going to ask the Premier to ask Mr. Pooley or Mr. Tolmie to be the candidate for the riding of the Liberal Party. I have always found him a busy boy and a very hard worker."

Referring to the Saturday meeting, Dr. MacLean advised the convention not to go too fast. "You can agree to-night and make your selection, but I advise your candidate to wait a week or ten days before he accepts. You may be able to get harmony within that time, and you will not be any the worse for the delay. At the end of that time, call a convention of every member of every association in the riding and see what all the members think. If you find at that convention that any man is selected by a large majority, it is the business of every Liberal in North Vancouver to get behind that man."

The Premier reviewed the work of his Government, and dealt briefly with the criticisms of the opposition. "If you want to know the date of the election," he said, "ask Mr. Pooley or Dr. Tolmie. They seem to know more about it than I do."

"I have never seen the party more united and more harmonious than it was during the last session," he went on. "That may be one reason why the Conservatives are not as anxious for an election as they were a year ago. We may be having a little trouble in North Vancouver, but the Conservatives are having their troubles all over the Province."

He told the Convention that the Liberal organization had been concentrating its efforts on nominating strong men in ridings where the Conservatives had won in the last election. He thought it more urgent to look after the riding of the Premier.

Dr. MacLean thought the criticisms made by the Opposition were not sincere, and he ridiculed their policy to ward the P.G.E. and their lack of policy in other respects. He was especially critical of the Conservatives' Provincial Party who were a member of the Federal House and which had no one in the Legislature to make an official statement in the name of the Opposition.

OBITUARY

There passed away on Sunday, May 6, Charles Rubidge Dunford, formerly of Manitoba. The funeral was held on Wednesday, May 9.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Elizabeth O'Neil who passed away in this city on Saturday, will take place on Wednesday afternoon, May 9, at 2 o'clock, from the funeral home of McCall Bros., Funeral Home to Wesley United Church where service will be held at 3 o'clock. The Question of Cost Need Not Stand Between You and a Steinway

It is sometimes assumed by people of moderate income that a Steinway Piano is beyond their means. They take it for granted that a instrument of such outstanding excellence will be prohibitive in price.

As a matter of fact, nothing could be farther from the truth. The Steinway is unquestionably in a class by itself as regards quality and performance. But it is not unattainable. It is not even difficult to procure. Many thousands of families have discovered that they can purchase this great instrument without the slightest financial stress or inconvenience.

It is now possible to acquire a Steinway with a ten per cent. first payment, and the balance will be extended over a period of two years. This means that for the Ebonized Baby Grand, for example, you need only $150 in cash in order to have this instrument in your home immediately, to delight and entertain you from that moment.

James Island Plant Will Double Output, Says Arthur B. Purvis

The James Island plant will soon be producing double its present output, according to Arthur B. Purvis, president and managing director of Canadian Industries Limited of Montreal, which controls the Canadian Giant Powder Company here.

"We have a plant capable of twice its present output, and we look to have it producing something like its capacity within the next few years," said Mr. Purvis. Lower costs of production, Mr. Purvis added, will mean cheaper powder for industrial and land clearing purposes.

Mr. Purvis paid a tribute to the late H. J. Scott of Victoria, whose association with the explosive business had been the longest on record for Canada.

Ladysmith

Ladysmith, May 14.—A very enjoyable party was held Tuesday evening when the Ladysmith Dramatic Society met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. McKay in honor of Miss Rita Robertson, who is leaving shortly for Prince Rupert. Vocal selections by James Mason and Miss Annie Mason, and instrumental selections by Winfield Robinson and Miss Annie Mason; recitation by W. Ross and humorous reading by W. Atkinson were very much enjoyed. During the evening the Rev. W. R. Brown presented Miss Robertson with a fountain pen and expressed the guests' regret at her departure, but wished her every success. A presentation of a book was made to Mrs. McKay as a token of appreciation for her work. A delicious supper was served, after which games were played until midnight.

Flashes From N. Y. Board

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

The American says: "Texas Corporation reflects quiet accumulation by investors who appreciate its strong financial position and leadership in the oil field."

The World says: "It is a significant fact that when money rates go to six per cent. in Wall Street the interior banks are the principal lenders."

The Journal of Commerce: "The recent activity and strength in chain store stocks is readily explained by the increased gross earnings of the chain stores. Twenty-four chain store organizations showed a gain of sales in the first four months of this year of 16 1/2 per cent."

The Herald-Tribune says: "Many investors believe that Reading will participate in the distribution of a large cash surplus of the Jersey Central of which it owns fifty-two per cent."

Dow Jones: "Jersey Central estimated earnings first quarter over $2 a share against 38c first quarter last year."

H. P. Bliss says: "If a cut in tire prices is delayed for another three months, we do not see why such a prediction should be the cause for liquidation in the stronger tire stocks like Goodrich and Goodyear. We believe that if a cut in prices does come, it will not be until after the first half of the year is completed. Inventory losses by then will be more or less minimized and will not have the effect that was feared earlier."

Since United Drug and Sterling Products were consolidated under the name of Drug Inc., with the accompanying capital readjustment, there has been substantial appreciation in the shares. The N.Y. Bond says: "We do not believe that the possibilities in the stock have been fully uncovered and this is an issue to which we would call attention as one entitled to a semi-investment rating."

"Absorption of the higher grade rails is almost sure to increase emphasis upon the rail candidates for higher dividends, a list which we think may fairly include New York Central, Southern Railway, Rock Island and Southern Pacific," says a message to the B.C. Bond. "It is believed the rail consolidation bill has been definitely shelved in the present Congress and as a result of this decision not to press for passage, it is quite possible, we think, that consolidation plans which may have been held in abeyance pending the success or non-success of the bill will now be pushed to conclusion."

DAVID BUICK'S VICTORY

By BRUCE CATTON

Victory is a great thing. The man who fights his way through obstacles, overcomes discouragement and doubt and wins his goal in spite of everything is greatly to be admired. To the victor belong not only the spoils, but a feeling of achievement that is beyond price.

Yet sometimes the fight, in itself, is worth more than the victory. In Detroit there lives a man named David Buick. Something like a quarter of a century ago he founded the Buick Motor Co. He developed the valve-in-head engine and, with W. C. Durant, helped bring one of the most famous industrial giants into being.

But to-day David Buick is poor. At the age of seventy-four, he has to work as an instructor in a Detroit trades school to support himself. The streets are filled with shiny autos bearing his name; his name, in fact, is the very symbol of wealth and power. But he himself is obscure and forgotten. He cannot afford to own a car.

This is a tragic story. But David Buick, who might be expected to be the most disconsolate and unhappy of men, is cheerful. His eyes still flash brightly as he talks to you. He smiles frequently and easily.

He tells you, rather proudly, of his early struggles; how he worked fourteen, sixteen and eighteen hours a day for seven years to establish the Buick Motor Co.; how, during all those years, he never took a day off—not even on Christmas; how neither he nor any other executive in the plant ever looked at the clock or thought of going home until every bit of work had been completed; and how, in 1910, his health finally broke down and forced him to retire.

The net result of this overwork was that David Buick lost out. Instead of being a multi-millionaire to-day he is poorer than most of the mechanics who work in the Buick factories. Yet he doesn't regret the work he put in. He doesn't feel bitter against fate.

He didn't get the victory—but he had the fight! For years he knew the joy of hard, desperate combat. For years he knew the satisfaction that comes to the man who gives himself without stint and spends himself utterly. And the memory of it still heartens him.

The indomitable will of the born fighter still animates him. He expresses contempt for the man who, when beaten, "kicks up his hind end and feels sorry for himself." Knocked down? All right; get up and fight again, even if you know you can't win. At least you can fight, and keep on fighting until you drop.

Victory isn't everything. The fight itself is its own reward. David Buick doesn't want your pity. He doesn't feel that he needs it. Life has given him certain rewards, even if he isn't a millionaire; and who shall say that David Buick is not one of the most admirable of the motor kings of Detroit?

EX-AUTO RACER ENDS HIS LIFE

Los Angeles, May 14.—Dave Lewis, forty-six, veteran automobile race driver, shot and killed himself yesterday with a shotgun in his mountain cabin in the San Francisco Canyon, about forty miles northeast of here, when a brush fire on his cabin site went beyond his control.

Sheriff's deputies, reporting the shooting here, said Lewis had been engaged in clearing brush from around his cabin. When a fire had spread out of control, Lewis became excited, ran into his cabin and killed himself.

"His nerves apparently were all shot to pieces," the report said. The fire was brought under control with little effort after it had swept over less than an acre.

Lewis won his spurs as a racing pilot in the days of Barney Oldfield, Teddy Tetzlaff and Eddie Rickenbacker. He retired from the racing game several years ago.

In March, 1927, Lewis was divorced

Spokane Autoist Loses His Life

Spokane, Wash., May 14.—Donald K. pioneer real estate operator and a leading developer of this region, lost his life Saturday night near Bonners Ferry, Idaho, when the automobile he was driving plunged into the Kootenai river from a roadway built along a reclamation project dike.

The steering apparatus apparently failed to operate properly and the machine plunged fifteen feet into twenty feet of water. The body was found in the car by searchers.

Mr. McDonald about two years ago suffered the loss of one hand in an accident here.

Born in Nova Scotia, Mr. McDonald was educated at the Picou Academy. After teaching school until he was twenty-eight, he came to Spokane, where he was employed on construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

AIRMEN MAKE PLANS FOR HOPS OVER ATLANTIC

Small Army in Europe Getting Machines Ready; Dirigibles Being Prepared

London, Eng., May 14.—As the warm winds from the south melt the icebergs off the Banks of Newfoundland and dissipate the fogs of Labrador, a small army of airmen in Europe is preparing to make the famous air hop from the Old World to the New.

If all the plans now announced bear fruit, this Spring and Summer, the upper regions between London, Paris and Berlin and New York will be so clogged with aeroplanes, flying boats and dirigibles and almost any kind of what-not with a propeller that the sea gulls will hardly stand a chance.

Undeterred by the heavy toll of death taken last year and already this year by the attempts to fly from the East to the West at least a score of aeroplanes are being constructed, finished and tuned up for the long jump. Looming up in the background are four giant fellows, the airships.

Almost every nation of Europe seems to have been bitten by the transatlantic flight bug. Not only the larger nations like Britain, France, Germany and Italy, but the smaller nations like Sweden and Holland as well as entering on the great aerial sweepstakes.

Nor are some of the airmen content with a single flight. A few like Captain R. H. McIntosh, who attempted a flight last Summer, expect to fly over and back. McIntosh, with a flying boat, says he will make a double and triple crossing of both the North and South Atlantic.

LARGE PLANES
The planes range from modest two-seaters like that of J. S. Charlton of England and his wife, Lady June Charlton, to the 135 passenger aeroplane planned by Professor E. Rumpler of Germany. F. P. Young, an English pilot, is building a plane capable of carrying twenty passengers. He has adopted the unique experiment of advertising for passengers, saying he will fly July 1 from London to New York.

Stimulated by the success of the Bremen, German airmen are doubling their efforts. Three companies, the Junkers, the Seinkel and Rohrbach firms, are rushing their entries to completion.

DIRIGIBLE PLANS
The dirigibles in course of construction are attracting possibly more attention than the heavier-than-air craft. The R-100 is rapidly nearing completion at Howden, Yorkshire, England. It will carry 100 passengers, a crew of forty, and ten tons of mail and is expected to make the journey from England to America in forty-eight hours. The first flight will be attempted late in the Summer.

In England, moreover, a sister ship, the R-101, is proceeding more slowly. A semi-rigid airship, the BSB-1, about one-fifth of the size of the R-100, is planned by the British Airships Limited for a transatlantic flight. In Germany, a Zeppelin is being built, competing in point of constructional speed with the R-100.

LAND INVESTIGATION
Ottawa, May 14.—A study of the land resources and their utilization and settlement in the prairie provinces, and what is known as the clay belt, is to be undertaken under the joint auspices of the Bureau of Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C., and the Social Science Research Council of the United States, according to O. E. Baker, economic analyst of the bureau, who is in Ottawa to-day. He states this study will be conducted in co-operation with the universities in the prairie provinces. He hopes also to enlist the co-operation of those of Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia.

OIL WELLS BURN IN ROUMANIA

Bucharest, May 14.—Twenty-three oil wells of the Asarcromano Company blazed like a gigantic torch last night in the Ocrid district. Two engineers were burned to death when they were trapped by the rapidly spreading flames. The property damage is enormous. Firemen, called from all the surrounding districts, battled desperately to prevent the flames from being carried by the strong wind to other adjacent oil wells.

Imperial all the way

The Peruvian Oil Fields in South America produce a petroleum that meets, in an unequalled degree, all the requirements of a fine motor oil.

These fields were developed by IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED and their entire output is controlled by this Company. In its own tankers, IMPERIAL transports the Peruvian crude to Canada, and in its own modern plants in Canada refines it for the use of Canadian motorists.

Out of the fine lubricating qualities which Peruvian crude alone possesses, IMPERIAL evolves Marvelube, a distinctly better motor oil.

Through every step in production and manufacture, Marvelube's inherently superior qualities are preserved by the unmatched facilities of Canada's largest refiners of petroleum products.

Marvelube

LET THIS CHART BE YOUR GUIDE

Be It Ever So Humble!

It seems to be the consensus of opinion that all writers are idealists. We are informed that it is easy to sit in a plush-padded (?) office and write glowing pictures of home life.

The reply to this is that those of us who are fighting and pleading for the preservation of the home as the greatest and highest of all national institutions, are not merely graduates from schools of journalism but from the school of experience, and are well aware of conditions that prevail among homes of every class.

I have held my head in my hands (speaking of clouds) in perplexed endeavor to help poor families in cellars and tenements, giving what aid I could and scarcely knowing where to turn for more.

But because we have the heart-wrenching problem of the poor and needy, it would be a wrong policy to discourage the ninety per cent and over of happy homes in the land.

Moreover in spite of conditions seemingly pointing to the contrary, it is true that destitute homes are becoming fewer each year, by improved industrial conditions.

Many argue that children should not be allowed to grow up in such homes but should be cared for by the state in state-built institutions. That would not only be impossible but tends to discourage the big thing is to help the home, to help struggling fathers and mothers to keep the home together and the family together.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of the family group in thousands of years of history. If nations are to survive, the family as a group must survive. A child, if humanly possible, should be with his parents, unless those parents are beyond the pale of decency, or are incompetent. I am not one who believes poverty is a state of mind. I know what the brute force of it means, the utter wretchedness. That is, real poverty. We who have comfort and shelter and food have sometimes a tendency to call poverty what isn't really poverty at all, but an unfortunate comparison.

There can be good and bad in everything. But I still maintain that the greatest lines ever written are these: "Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home!"

"What I never dreamed the man I married couldn't give me a decent home to begin with, and some kind of a car. I'd be satisfied with just a little one. I can't get used to street cars. And it never occurred to me that I couldn't have help. We can't take trips, we can't entertain, we can't do anything."

H.M.S. DURBAN TO VISIT PORT

British West Indies Warship to Be Here in June and Again in August

H.M.S. Durban, a unit of the British North America and West Indies Squadron, will pay three visits to local waters in the months of June and August. Acting-Major R. A. C. Dewar was notified to-day on behalf of the city, by Mr. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of the Department of National Defence, naval service branch.

The warship will call here first on June 6, remaining until June 12. The next call will occur on August 11, when H.M.S. Durban will remain until August 17. The final visit will take place on August 29 for a two-day stay, before the return of the warship to the West Indies station.

A civic reception for the complement of the warship is contemplated, it is understood.

EIGHT ESCAPE WATERY GRAVE

Bellingham, Wash., May 14.—The crew of eight men on the seine boat Tiger had a narrow escape from death early yesterday when the vessel partially sank in Bellingham Bay after it had collided with the tug Barney Jr. The men jumped into the cold water in the early morning darkness and were rescued by the tug's crew.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, May 15.—Eleven vessels are listed to arrive in Seattle from California with gasoline and oil during the next few days. The arrival of the Warlock soon will be followed by the dockage of the other vessels. Nine are straight tankers and the others have barreled products.

The start of Alaskan fishing operations and the impetus given to use of automobiles by warm weather have boosted the consumption of gasoline and oil.

R. C. Thackara, New York, chairman of the United States Westbound Inter-coast Conference, met with members of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce transportation committee to discuss problems confronting shippers and steamship lines. He will attend a conference at Longview and return here for later meetings before proceeding to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The steamship Queen, of the Pacific Steamship Company, is receiving a complete overhauling here preparatory to the opening of summer excursion trips to Southeastern Alaska. The vessel will sail May 24 on the first of the regular twelve-day voyages.

PAY AS YOU GO IS GOOD POLICY

April, May and June: bride months. With all the pomp and glitter of a court presentation these boys and girls are joined together in holy wedlock to live together happily on $30 a week and end.

One responsible for many of these unions, an eminent divine with a sense of humor, has posted a list of rules, a decalogue of married peace, so to speak, for the aid of those young people sensible enough to follow.

Not the least of these rules reads thus: "Thou shalt not try to start life where thy parents left off. Begin in low gear and shift gears until you get in high. Pay as you go and if you can't pay don't go."

One young woman said to a friend, "It isn't fair! I've been married three years now and so far I haven't had a single thing I'd been led to expect a bride was entitled to."

"What did you expect?" asked the friend.

"Well, I never dreamed the man I married couldn't give me a decent house to begin with, and some kind of a car. I'd be satisfied with just a little one. I can't get used to street cars. And it never occurred to me that I couldn't have help. We can't take trips, we can't entertain, we can't do anything."

LUXURIOUS COASTWISE LINER MAKES SPEED OF THIRTY MILES AN HOUR

of the Pacific Steamship Company's coastwise fleet of liners plying between Victoria and Seattle and California ports, which will take her first trip of the summer season out of Seattle to-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. The H.F. undoubtedly the fastest and most palatial liner in these parts will take the southern trip from Seattle every Tuesday afternoon. She was recently completely reconditioned and overhauled at San Francisco and during her trial trips made a speed of twenty-four knots, nearly thirty miles an hour. The H.F., unlike the other Pacific Steamship Company's vessels, will not call at Victoria, but will sail direct to California. She is commanded by Captain Fred Nystrom.

Protesilaus Will Dock From Orient On Wednesday

The Blue Pannel liner Tyndareus will not call in at Victoria on her outward trip to Hongkong, according to word received in the city to-day by the Rithet Consolidated Company, local agents for the Blue Pannel line, but will sail direct from Vancouver. The Tyndareus will pass William Head for sea sometime during Wednesday afternoon.

In bound from Hongkong and other Oriental ports the liner Protesilaus will dock at the Rithet piers about 1 o'clock. The Protesilaus has a good cargo and seventy-one passengers for discharge at this port before she leaves for Vancouver and other mainland ports, to commence loading for the return voyage to the Orient.

MARINE NOTES

With general cargo for Victoria the Canadian National freighter Canadian Rover will dock at Ogden Point from California on Wednesday.

The Canadian National Railway's car barge Canora which plies from Port Mann to Patricia Bay, will be docked by Yarrow's Limited in the new Government drydock at Squamish to-morrow morning for general overhaul.

With two hundred tons of cargo for discharge at Victoria the Holland America liner Kinderdyk will dock at the Rithet piers on Wednesday morning from the Old Country according to word received in the city by A. P. Moffat, local agent.

For cleaning and painting and general overhauling the ferry barge Cascade which runs between Brentwood and Mill Bay will be put on the marine railway at Yarrow's Limited to-morrow morning. During the repairs to the Cascade there will be no ferry service across the Saanich Arm. The Cascade will be on the ways until Thursday evening.

Harper McNeill of the Thomas Cook and Son tourist agencies of Vancouver was a visitor in the city to-day on business for his company. Mr. McNeill came over on the midnight steamer and will return to Vancouver this evening.

U.S. Cutter Is Damaged By Fire

Seattle, May 14.—Destruction of the United States coastguard cutter Northland was threatened here yesterday when fire started in its cargo, doing damage estimated at $300. The flames were believed to have originated from spontaneous combustion.

The quartermaster sounded the alarm when he discovered smoke issuing from an open hatch. The crew of the Northland had the situation fairly well in hand when the city firemen and fireboats arrived.

The vessel was scheduled to sail for Alaska in the next two days, but may be delayed because much of the cargo will have to be replaced.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, May 15.—In tow of the Nelson Steamship Company's steamer Port Angeles, the tug Vigilant, recently purchased from the navy department by the Carey Tug and Barge Company of Seattle, left here for the Puget Sound port.

The Vigilant, which was formerly used on San Francisco Bay, was sold at auction. Her owners intend to convert the craft into a Diesel vessel, and to use here on Puget Sound in the towing service.

California Council No. 880, Knights of Columbus, will sail from here next Friday on the Lascamo Company's liner Harvard for San Pedro. In the southland the party, numbering about 300, will be guests of the southern order of the Knights of Columbus and Catholic Daughters of America. Grand Knight Chris D. McKee will head the pilgrimage south.

The N.Y.K. liner Korea Maru, which left Yokohama two days late, will arrive here only one day behind schedule. The Korea was delayed in leaving the Japanese port due to the heavy silk shipment. Doyley, Wash. Angeles; Tahiko Maru, Kobe.

IS THE SNAIL SLOW?

In the natural history museum at South Kensington in London, two desert snails, brought from Egypt, were gummed down on tablets in the show cases. Five years passed without the faintest flicker of life. Then chance led to an examination and the discovery was made that one of the snails was slowly repairing the crust which closed the entrance of his shell.

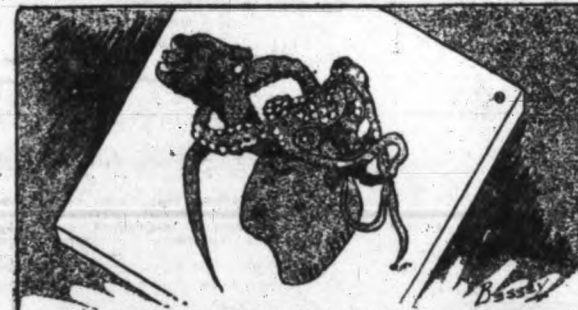

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-25.

Both snails were taken out and placed in tepid water. One revived and began repairing the lip of its shell which had been damaged by gum.

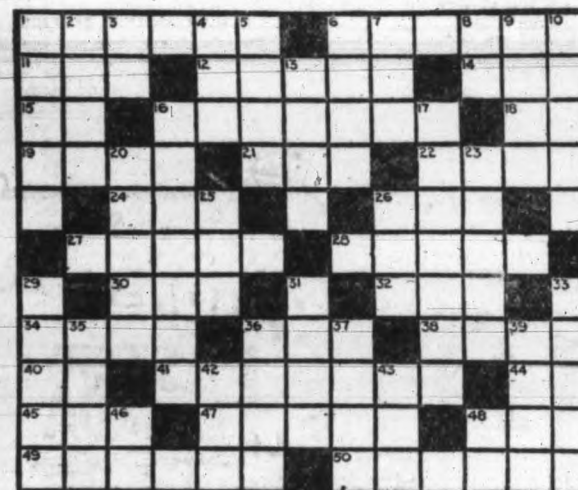

Snails have been found in the Sahara desert, where the day temperature was 122 degrees Fahrenheit and where no rain had fallen for years.

Among the odd molluscs is the Nautilus, sole survivor of a race with which the seas once teemed. The Nautilus has a shell and lives in the outermost chamber, not in the whole of it. The foot round about the mouth has numerous tentacles which can be withdrawn into shields. Above is shown a Paper Nautilus or Argonaut.

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, MAY 15, 1928

This is not a fortunate day, according to astrology, for sinister planetary influences are strong.

There is a fairly good rule for business projects unless they are connected with women.

Merchants and manufacturers should be cautious at this time, but the seers predict great profits for them later.

New fabrics are to be woven and new modes introduced that will be profitable to many persons.

Chemists are subject to the best possible direction of the stars and they are to bring many boons to humanity through their scientific discoveries. It is foretold.

Growers of wool and weavers of it have the forecast of much profit in the coming winter, when world events will cause increased demand.

This is a sinister away for domestic happiness, since it is believed to cause men to be lacking in sympathy or understanding.

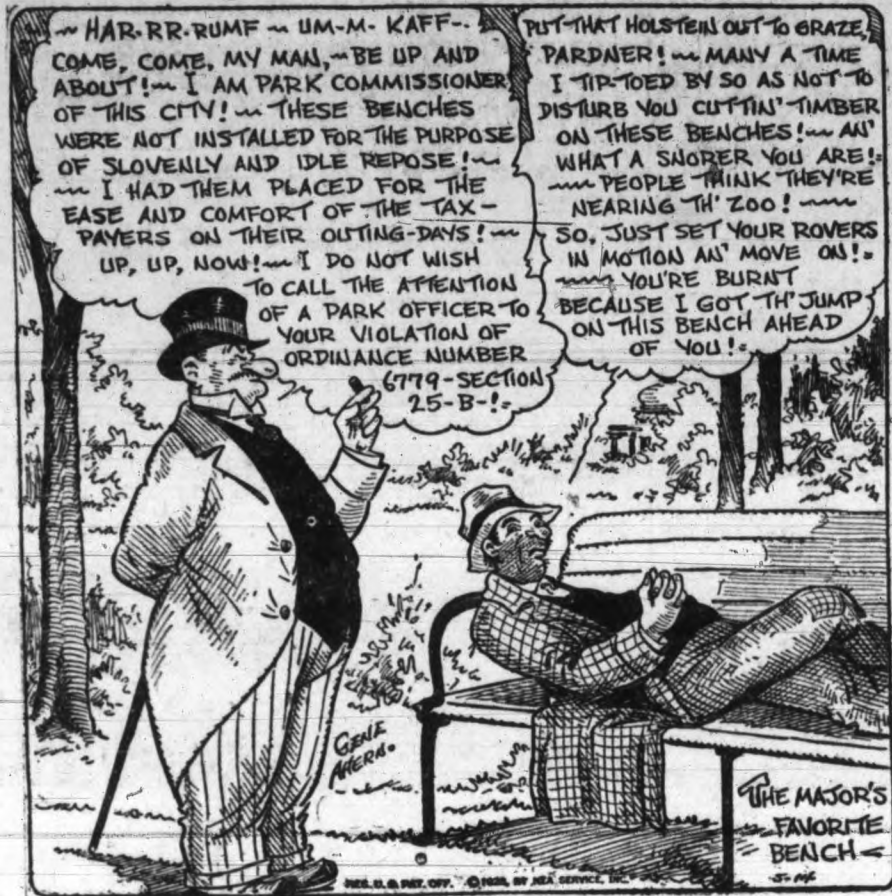

Luck does not smile on this as a wedding day, for many quarrels and even divorces may be expected, astrologers announce.

Persons whose birthdate it is may expect big events in the coming year, which should be very fortunate.

Children born on this day may be too impulsive for their own good. The subjects of this sign usually have first-business sense.

ORANGE NOTES

Victoria County L.O.L.C. 100 journeyed to Saanichton on May 5 and accomplished degree work after the Saanichton lodge under their genial master, Capt. Gray, had finished the business of the evening. There was a good attendance of the brethren, who were deeply interested in the manner in which the degree work was exemplified. Sir Henry Wilson 2922 met in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street, Tuesday evening, May 8. W.M. R. McBratney and D.M. James Dixon presided. Several prominent brethren were among the visitors and gave interesting addresses.

Two brethren were advanced to higher degrees.

Sir Edward Carson held their bi-weekly meeting Friday, May 11, in the Orange Hall. One member was received by affiliation and one application was received, balloted on and will be initiated Friday, May 25. The W.M. reported that all arrangements were concluded for the banquet, dance and card party to be held in the Orange Hall Thursday evening, May 31, in aid of the county lodge building fund. Members of the L.O.B.A. and L.O.A. claim it will prove one of the events of the year, and a large attendance is already promised.

Purple Star Lodge L.O.B.A. have planned a concert and dance in the Orange Hall Friday evening, May 18, in aid of the building fund.

She Was Very Satisfied With Results

Alberta Lady Was Restored to Health and Strength

"I was very much worn out from hard work and my kidneys and back bothered me," writes Mrs. T. Sloan of Kinuso, Alta. "My friend told me to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so and was very satisfied with their help in restoring my strength."

The road to good health lies through the kidneys. If they are kept strong and well all the impurities are strained out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys in good condition to do their work of cleansing and purifying the blood. Weak, Nervous, Run-down women should give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial at once. They will give speedy relief.

EIGHT AUTOISTS KILLED IN CRASH

Believed Machines Which Ran Into Train in Pennsylvania Were Racing

Erie, Pa., May 14—Eight persons were fatally hurt, and five injured, one perhaps fatally, when two automobiles believed by engineers to have been racing, crashed into a Pennsylvania passenger train at a crossing at Espyville yesterday.

James Pilmer of Erie, engineer on the train, said the crossing was free of obstruction to the view in all directions and that he had seen the two cars approaching the tracks at high speed. TRAIN NOT SEEN

He added that the car drivers apparently did not see the train and that both machines crashed into his locomotive before he could stop.

Six of the victims were killed instantly, some of the bodies being thrown under the wheels of the train. Ward Thomas, fifty, died on the way to Erie, the injured having been brought here on the train, which was running from Pittsburgh to Erie. Mrs. Clara Hayes died in a hospital after the train's arrival.

The locomotive was damaged by the double impact of the cars and proceeded here with difficulty.

Espyville is thirty-five miles southwest of here.

DAMAGES AWARDED

Nelson, May 14—Damages totaling $2,353 were awarded the Trail Steam Laundry against C. A. Larson of Nelson on Saturday by Mr. Justice Murphy in the closing trial of the Spring assizes here. The award was made on the claim that defective machinery had been supplied to the Trail company. The judge also gave the Trail Steam Laundry a perpetual injunction against Mr. Larson preventing him from establishing a laundry in Trail or maintaining an agency within a radius of ten miles of Trail.

Fire Makes Six Families Homeless

Quebec, May 14—Six families were rendered homeless and damage estimated at $25,000 was done by a fire that destroyed a six-story tenement house at St. Romuald, Levis County, Sunday.

NEW PARTY IN SOUTH AFRICA

Creswell Plans Continued Labor-Nationalist Alliance in Parliament

Capetown, South Africa, May 14 (Canadian Press, Cable via Reuters).—According to The Cape Times, Col. the Hon. F. H. P. Creswell, parliamentary Labor leader and Minister of defence in the Hertzog Government, who claims to have a following of ninety per cent of the rank and file of the present Labor Party and relies upon the full support of the Nationalist Party. His followers, the newspaper states, will fight the general election under this pact and take portfolios according to the numbers elected.

Col. Creswell, the paper continues, will point out in the manifesto that the national council of the Labor Party is responsible for precipitating a defunct split in the Labor Party because of its threat of expulsion and refusal to approve the nomination of all candidates for parliamentary honors who do not agree with its methods.

SWEET PEAS OF B.C. PRAISED

Product of Victoria Man Commented Upon in New York Magazine

The importance of the sweet pea growing industry in British Columbia and the success in growing attained by local amateurs is recognized in The Florists Exchange and Horticultural Trade World of New York in the following article:

"It is fairly well known that British Columbia is becoming an important seed growing centre, there being several concerns who are specializing in this line of activity. Much of the seed raised is, we understand, grown under contract mainly for large British seed houses. Sweet peas, perhaps, are the most important crop and it has been stated that the quality of the seed grown in British Columbia is unusually high grade, the crops being hand picked and most carefully rogued to meet the requirements of the concerns for whom the seed is grown."

"It was twenty or more years ago that British Columbia attracted notice as having an ideal climate for sweet peas, possessing all the good features of the English climate without its drawbacks. Travelers reported that in the gardens of British Columbia, sweet peas grew with abandon and that when handled on exhibition lines, the flowers were of remarkable quality. More than one English sweet pea enthusiast hied away to the far Northwest and it is possible that the development of seed growing as an industry, is due, in some measure to these migrants."

"Among the native amateur enthusiasts during the early days of Countess Spencer was James A. Bland of Victoria, B.C. His success as an exhibitor in his home city, through the literature of the National Sweet Pea Society, became known far and wide, and it would appear that the passing years did not dim his enthusiasm. In due course, his amateur status ceased to be and for a considerable number of years he has been operating as a contract grower of sweet peas, largely we believe, at the prompting of the well-known English specialist, W. J. Unwin, for whom he grows a large quantity."

"Mr. Bland's name became rather prominent last season, owing to the fact that one of his seedlings, a lavender, somewhat paler than Powerscourt, gained a certificate of merit at the Scottish national trials, the first award of the kind ever made to a colonial raiser. According to the Scottish report the new variety is an unusually fine type with heavily frilled petals. Mr. Bland has since named it Victoria, after his native city, and it will be distributed by W. J. Unwin."

apiarist, on Wednesday afternoon at the farm of Major L. H. McQueen, Verdier Avenue. About thirty members of the association and others were present and gave keen attention to the various stages of the work. After the demonstration was completed Mrs. McQueen served tea on the lawn and much interesting talk concerning the industry was exchanged by the members who also thanked Major and Mrs. McQueen for their kind hospitality.

The West Saanich W.I. held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon in the Institute Hall. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. E. Rochon, and the minutes and correspondence was read by the secretary. A letter was received from the Strawberry Vale Institute enclosing a resolution that a portion of Scripture be read each day, without comment in the public schools. After some discussion this resolution was endorsed by the members. Mrs. J. D. Gordon wrote that she would give a demonstration on "Quick Lunches" when convenient for the institute. It was decided to hold a silver tea for the funds on Saturday afternoon, May 26, at the home of Mrs. E. Rochon, Mount Newton, who kindly offered her home for the affair.

Plans for a strawberry social and dance for the piano fund were left over until the June meeting. The Women's Institute convention will convene at Duncan on May 15 and 16. Mrs. T. Haddon, secretary, will be the delegate from West Saanich. Tea was served by Mrs. Heyworth and Mrs. Atkins and the meeting adjourned.

A military five hundred will be held under the auspices of the W.I. on Saturday at 8.30 p.m.
